We are like dwarfs sitting on the shoulders of giants. We see more, and things that are more distant, than they did, not because our sight is superior or because we are taller than they, but because they raise us up, and by their great stature add to ours - John of Salisbury (1115-1180 AD).

This work would not have been possible without the help and support of my family, friends, and professors, to which I cannot do justice in such a brief section. I will endeavor, then, to briefly acknowledge the major contributors.

I would like to thank Professor Asit K. Datta and Professor Ajay Ghosh for bringing me in on the project, for the knowledge I have obtained along the way, and for their guidance in the creation of this thesis. Their suggestions and continuous encouragement throughout the course of this work were the driving force behind this work.

I would gratefully acknowledge the help I received from Dr. Alok Kumar Ghosh. Thanks are also due to my colleagues and friends Jayanta Kumar Chandra, Debmalya Banerjee, Tamal Mukherjee, Paromita Guha, Prasenjit Ghosh, Sibsambhu Kar, Kaushik Das Sharma and Rajib Kumar Mandal, for spending long time on discussions on various issues related to the works presented.

Most importantly, none of this would have been possible without the love and patience of my wife, Papia. My immediate family to whom this dissertation is dedicated to, has been a constant source of love, concern, support and strength all these years. I would like to acknowledge and extend my heartfelt gratitude to my parents, Pabitra Kumar Banerjee and Dipali Banerjee and my aunt, Minati Mukherjee for their great support for my life. Many thanks are due for the completion of this thesis.
