ACKNOWLEDGMENT

My research work is incomplete without acknowledgements that are due to so many individuals and institutions that have directly and indirectly helped me in accomplishing this difficult task.

First and foremost, I am extremely grateful to Dr. G. Venkatesh Kumar, Professor of Psychology, University of Mysore for accepting me as research student and for his fantastic guidance and insight throughout the duration of this research work. Without his expertise and encouragement, this would have never been possible. I would like to thank him for his unwavering support and understanding. I wish to acknowledge his incisive thinking and encouragement to pursue the exploration of psychotherapy. The contribution of his untiring support at crucial moments is highly appreciated. This will definitely have an influence throughout my career.

Special thanks are also to Professor P. Prakash Chairman of department of Psychology for his kindness cooperation and constant encouragement.

I am also extremely thankful to Dr. Lancy D’ Souza, who spent sleepless nights attending to the statistical analysis of my research work and lucid explanations regarding various tests utilized. I would earnestly acknowledge his generosity in giving his time and insight to this research. I am also appreciative of the help given by him in the successful completion of this research.

I would like to immensely thank Dr. Sampathkumar, Dr. Ramakrishne Gowda H. N. Department of Studies in Psychology for their kind support.
My sincere thanks are given to Dr. Jyoti S. Madgaonkar, for her kindness, moral support, and her helpful suggestion during my study.

I would also like to thank my thesis committee members, for their contributions to this work. Over the years, each has given me superb scientific guidance, many insightful suggestions and demonstrated a sincere interest in my work.

I am extending my thanks to Research scholars, Office Staffs Department of Studies in Psychology, University of Mysore for their active cooperation during my studies.

I would like to thank all non-teaching staff of the Department of Psychology, Mysore University, for their cooperation.

I also would like to record my heartfelt thanks to Dr. Bharathi Kulashekara that I acknowledge the time and help which she has given me and for sharing her experiences in developing the intervention program and also for other invaluable advice which helped me tremendously.

I honestly thank all the adolescents and their parents who participated in this research study, for their willingness to dedicate their time and considering my request to participate in the intervention program. I like to write a word of thanks to Mrs. Kumuda Raghavendra, Principal, C.N. Jayalaxmi Devi College, Mysore and the administration and school authorities of Manasa Gangothri Government School, Mysore for giving me the consent to conduct the study in their institutions and for their support extended in the process of data collection.

I am also thankful to the library staff of University of Mysore, especially my thanks are due to Dr. Kodandarama for his kind cooperation, continuous support, valuable suggestion and encouragement during the tenure of my research.
Words may not be sufficient to thank the amount of support and encouragement given to me by the members of my family my beloved mother and father and my brothers Davood and Ehsan, whose unconditional love and support have been a deep motivation throughout my life. Thanks for always being next to me. I am truly grateful for all their love and support.

I am greatly indebted to thank profusely my dearest friend, Dr. Mitra Shahsavani for making so many adjustments, sacrifices, support, and being there for me in times of need throughout, she has been a source of encouragement and inspiration to me, without which, I would not have completed the research work.

I thank god for giving me the light for accomplishing this goal. Thank you for enlightening me in order to understand difficult concepts and for giving me the strength of continuing and finishing my work.

Even though the list may be exhaustive, still there may be some omission of persons to be thanked. Therefore, last but not the least I thank all such persons who might have been missed.
