Acknowledgement

The completion of thesis entitled, "Sensitivity of keratinophyles to ultra violet radiation and its potentiality in degradation of keratin: A biotechnological approach" give an opportunity to convey my gratitude’s to all those who have helped me to complete this research work successfully and well within time.

I would like to this convey my thanks to almighty God and many individuals, I have been with, over the past few years for providing me the opportunity to experiment and learn. The University of Dayalbagh (DEI) in particular had been the source of inspiration. My desire to work for PhD has been fulfilled by Microbiology Laboratory.

The ultimate materialization of framed research work presented in the thesis was made possible only through the enthusiastic, optimistic and dedicated guidance, support and motivation of my respectable supervisor Dr. J.N. Shrivastava for which I express my sincere gratitude to him for his kind supervision, inspiring guidance and inconsistent encouragement throughout my research period.

I would be failing in my duties if I do not express my overwhelming sense of gratitude to Prof. V.P. Bhatnagar (Head, Department of Botany) for giving me a chance by providing all guidance and basic facilities to carry out the research work. I am thankful to Prof. A.K.Bhatnagar, Prof. Asha Juneja (Retd), Dr. D.S. Rao, Dr. G.P. Satsangi, and Dr. Ameeta Shrivastava for their valuable suggestions.

I owe utmost thanks to Prof. S.C. Agarwal, Department of Microbiology, Sagar University, Sagar, Prof. R.K.S. Kushwaha, Department of Botany, Christ Church College, Kanpur University, Kanpur, Prof. R.K.S. Chauhan, Department of Botany, Jiwaji University, Gwalior, Dr. D.K. Shrivastava, Department of Botany, Lucknow University, Lucknow, Prof. S.V.S. Chauhan, Dean, School of Life Sciences, Agra and Dr. S.N. Chaturvedi, Emeritus Professor (Retd), R.B.S. College, Agra for their suggestions and discussions made throughout my research work.

I am grateful to Shri. Shabd Kumar, my immediate senior Mr. Manish Mathur and all the members of the department who helped me time to time throughout my work.
I am thankful to my friends Parul Saxena and Shraddha Jain for her constant support throughout my research work. I am also thankful to my colleague Priyanka for her help and cooperation.

I extend my thanks to Electron Microscopy Department, AIIMS, New Delhi for providing me the scanned electron microphotographs of my research work and to Mr. Shambhu Prasad Rao for the excellent photography during entire thesis work.

My parents have done everything possible to help me to reach this place. I feel short of words to pay thanks to them. I am lucky to get such caring, loving and adorable parents. They have helped me in good and bad times alike to keep me focussed on my goal. Special thanks to my elder brother, sister-in-law, sister and brother-in-law and other family members too for all their love, affection and encouragement, which had been a source of inspiration throughout my research work.

I wish to thanks to all my remaining family members for their moral support.

In the last I would like to thank all individuals known or unknown who have helped me directly or indirectly during the research fellowship period.

I must say that all of these great people have done their social job, which I will also like to oblige others in form of similar or even better support throughout my life.

Nidhi Govil
(Nidhi Govil)