ACKNOWLEDGMENT

It is my sacred and pleasant duty to express my feeling of gratitude to my distinguished supervisor Prof. Surila Agarwala, Department of Psychology, Dayalbagh Educational Institute. The present research would not have been successful without her sincere guidance and cooperation. I hold her in great esteem and profound respect for not only her scholarly ability and vast knowledge but also for her interest and personal involvement. I owe great obligation to her for advice and motherly love shown to me.

I am grateful to Dr. Atul Kulshreshtha, Dr. Anurag Dixit and Dr. Anand Swaroop for cooperating and supporting me. Without their cooperation the completion of this research was not possible.

I am highly obliged to my parents, brother and sister for their love and emotional support.

I also thank members of staff of the department of Psychology, Dayalbagh Educational institute, Dayalbagh, Agra. My heartiest thanks go to the librarians and the staff of computer centre and library DEI, Dayalbagh, Agra; S. N. Medical College, Agra; Gandhi Medical College, Bhopal; Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose Medical College Jabalpur.

Lastly, I sincerely thank my hostel warden Late Dr. (Ms.) D. U. Mirchandani, Mrs. Bal for their care and concern throughout these years.

This acknowledgement will not be complete unless. I place on record my very special gratitude towards the universal power, Almighty God, Who always stood by my side and gave me strength in every walk of this work.

Arpita Solanki