ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

“Before we ask God for anything, we must thank him for countless blessings being bestowed on us every moment…….”

The journey of Doctorate was decided and maintained by the grace of God. While writing this acknowledgment, I just want to express immense gratitude towards God and Godsend souls who supported me through.

It was a blessing to work with Dr. Shruti Shourie, Deptt. of Psychology, D.A.V.C. Chandigarh who is rightly to be called an earth’s angel. Ma’am, you lent me your hand and touched my heart. I feel proud to be her first Doctoral student and when I hear from countless students and souls about her positive aura, it further enhances my love for her. Her excellence in work and work-life balance has inspired countless students like me. She has made a positive difference to my life as a positive mentor who inspired an attitude of hope and courage, optimism, and instilled a passion for research and teaching. She offered me a freedom to explore ideas and share with her. Her attitude of gratitude towards everything in life has been remarkable. She has been practically applying and promoting psychological skills among different sections of the society which has taken Positive and Sports Psychology to great heights!

I am extremely grateful to a savior Prof. Meena Sehgal, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh. I consider it a great privilege to have worked with her dearest student Dr. Shruti Shourie. Prof. Meena Sehgal, has been encouraging throughout for the fruitful completion of this Doctorate. With her skills as an ardent researcher in Positive psychology, perfection, profound knowledge and cheerful nature, she has been a strong motivator in all aspects during my journey.

I completely admire Prof. Jitendra Mohan, Prof. Emeritus, an ardent researcher of Positive psychology, a well-known Sports psychologist, distinguished Excellence Trainer, to name a few. Sir, you have inspired each and every student of Deptt. Of Psychology with your expertise, flow, magnanimous personality, unwavering enthusiasm and a lovely smile which you carry throughout your lectures.

I am highly grateful to Prof. Rajesh Gill, Dept. of Sociology, for guiding me, blessing me and supporting me at her best. Her student oriented support, patience, and concern is well-acknowledged by the students of Panjab University.
I want to express my thanks to Prof. Seema Vinayak, who was the chairperson when I started my journey for all the required help and support. She has been generous.

I would like to offer my sincere thanks to Prof. Anuradha Bhandari, who has been a great teacher and a respectable researcher. Her honesty and dedication towards her work has been quite inspiring. I completely enjoyed her lectures delivered on Child psychology and Health psychology during my Masters, with special emphasis on latest research evidence and practical implications. She would motivate me to increase my reading and keep my knowledge updated.

I offer my thanks to the present Chairperson Prof. Harpreet, for all the required work to be carried out with flow. She has been my teacher in Masters. She introduced new areas in Masters in Psychology i.e. Neuroscience and Behavioral Economics and inspired me to read about them.

Heartfelt thanks goes to the dearest human beings Dr. Jerath, Dr. Malhi and Dr. Minhaas. Dr. Jerath’s profound love, guidance and encouragement has been matchless. He is a rock when you look up to him for strength. Coffee with Dr. Jerath is always remembered. It is always said that it is during your bad days, when you realize your true friends. Sir, has been a great friend, a father figure and a source of moral support. His academic guidance deserves a special mention during my journey.

I am grateful towards Dr. B.C. Josan, The Principal, D.A.V.C, for giving me an opportunity to be a part of this college. I am thankful to all the professors of D.A.V.C., Deptt. of Psychology, Chandigarh; Dr. Aradhana Sharma, Dr. Komila Parthi, Dr. Rohini Thapar, Ms. Pratibha, Ms. Harpriya Singh. The journey wasn’t possible without their support and love. Sincere heartfelt thanks to Dr. Aradhana, for her never ending encouragement and being approachable. D.A.V.C. Deptt. of psychology, deserves to be called a great workplace for budding research scholars and regular students. It is a place which aims to foster knowledge along-with positivity among students. It was delightful and satisfying to see ethics, altruism, and love dwelling among everyone in the Deptt. I am proud to be a part of D.A.V.C, Psychology department. Thank you to all the research scholars; Neha Chopra, Prerna Manchanda, Chandanpreet, Megha Bindrani, Lakhminder Singh, Sheena for love and support.
Special Thanks to Dr. Amanendra Mann, Deptt. of Physical Education, D.A.V.C, Chandigarh for his unwavering enthusiasm, encouragement, approachability, moral and academic support.

I am thankful to Dr. Akanksha Tripathi, Dr. Kuldeep Singh, Dr. Bani Narula and Dr. Guneet Singh, who have been sources of inspiration and help in academics. They are taking Psychology as a field to practical levels and making a difference in the society at large.

Vipan, Research Scholar, Deptt. of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh has always been a call away! His positivity, resourceful nature, respect, and encouragement will be remembered always!

I would like to offer zillion likes and love to all the professors of G.C.G., Deptt. of Psychology, Chandigarh. God blessed me to work with the best human beings and teachers on this planet! “It is about We working as One.” the statement which I owe to Gcgians psychology club for their togetherness as humans, teamwork, ideas, love for one another, celebrations, cheerful atmosphere, immense love and respect towards ad-hoc faculty and resource persons, last but not the least for their enthusiasm to impart the best of their knowledge to students and keeping students’ interest as the topmost priority. Ms. Simrat Rana, Head of the Department Psychology, who kept me like her dear daughter. Her love and blessings kept me through the completion of this journey. Dr. Renu Sandhu, Dr. Kuldip Kaur Thind, and Dr. Neelam Rathee, the trio rocks in their dedication and profound knowledge.

Dr. Gurinder Kaur, Former Assistant Prof. in Deptt. of English, Government College, Mohali and Government College, G.C.G. 11. She has been a charging point to boost me with extra energy to complete my work successfully and as soon as I can. Her love and support makes me call her ‘Masi’. Similarly, her dear sister and my dear aunt, Dr. Rupinder Kaur, Former Prof. in Deptt. of English, Panjabi University, Patiala., has been an epitome of love and a mother figure in supporting me through.

The dearest teacher, Dr. Deepali Sharma, Former Assistant Professor, Dept. of Home Science, Government Home Science College, has been showering her blessings and love ever since I met her. I am extremely grateful to have her in my life.
Dr. Tarika and Dr. Mandeep, Deptt. of Psychology, Panjabi University, Patiala had been quite helpful in sharing their additional guidance. I am thankful to them for sparing their time whenever the need arose.

Prof. Suresh and his competent assistant and statistician Rajesh, Deptt. of Statistics, Panjab University, Chandigarh, have been quite helpful in helping me through difficult task of analysis. Their availability and approachability did help me understand technicalities related to statistics with keen interest.

I owe my thanks to Dr. Rupak Chakravarty, Chairperson, Deptt. of Library Science, Panjab University, Chandigarh and Ms. Deepti, Library In-charge, D.A.V.C, Chandigarh, for their precious services.

“The family is the God’s greatest Masterpiece.” I am proud to say that I have been blessed with the best family on this planet. First of all, I would like to thank my late grandparents (Daadke and Naanke). It is with their blessings and faith in my abilities that I have come so far! I remember them with profound happiness and with the most beautiful feelings. I feel that they did pass on a tremendous amount of support through their presence in one or the other form even after leaving for heavenly abode. I would like to thank my dear relatives for their endless blessings. I.B. Singh, my suffarji and Kitty, my bhua have been quite active supporters. Their love for me as a daughter has been pushing me through this journey. Ms. Indermohini, my bhua has been passing on her ideals to me for completing my work. I am highly grateful to Late Mehtaab Singh Bhatia, R.P. Singh, Shama Singh, Harvinder Singh, Ripudaman Kaur for their tremendous love.

I dedicate this thesis to my parents. “No love is bigger than Parents’ love.” To Mom and Dad, I can’t thank you enough! The only love which is felt and beyond words! No matter how far I have come, I will always be a little learning kid for you. You have raised me well and given the best, more than I ever deserved. From the bottom of my heart and to the tips of my toes, I am in-debt to you.

“Because I have a brother, I always have a friend.” Dr. Rajandeep Singh, has been a superhero since childhood in encouraging me with his deeds and words. Even though, he’s younger to me but his words speak of wisdom! His availability and sacrifices to me was a biggest security to get my most important things done within seconds. He has been a greatest gift to me by God and to my parents. I wish him good luck for completing his Masters in Surgery with flying colors and making us proud.

My Masi, who rightly deserves the title of “Ma-Jaisi” has been praying all days since childhood for my success in work and life. I owe my gratitude to her.

“Daughters are born twice.” And my birth in my in-laws house has been a special one. God has been very kind to me for blessing me with the most loving family after my marriage. It feels difficult to use a term “Mother in law” for a lady who is my second mother and who has loved me and kept me like an angel in the house. She’s an epitome of love and with her self-less nature, she has supported me and encouraged me through positivity and blessings. I am highly grateful to my brother in law, Jarnail Veer and his wife Dr. Surleen Kaur for their endless love, academic, moral and emotional support. My sincere apologies to little Gurr Singh, my nephew for suddenly disappearing off his sight and then returning back to hood after months!

My warm regards to my sister in law, Ms. Manpreet Kaur, for sending out best wishes from overseas consistently, for caring and praying for my achievement. Nek Singh, my little brother in law, whose love and support as a best buddy can never be forgotten in lives to come! Gurneesh Kaur and Divya Punj, for their pure love, “Didis’ it means a lot to me for the time and love that you have offered.” Special thanks to Bali Mamaji, Miki Mamiji, Jagjit Singh, J.J. Singh, Jyoti Singh, Satinder Singh, ManMohini Singh, Goody Singh, Inderjit Singh Narula, Taranpreet Mehndi, Nirmal Kaur, Veena Ji, Surinder Kaur, Rahul Gautam, Vikas Banga for their endless motivation, support and love.

“My soulmate is one of those greatest blessings from God whose love is a source of energy and positivity that I open every day.” Ripu, you have made this journey possible with your patience and unconditional love. I hope we keep the spiritual path alive along-with worldly duties. With you and your spiritual inclination, I feel complete!

Life becomes much easy when you have bunch of friends. And, I am highly blessed to have ‘angels’. It is rightly said that “Good friends become our chosen family.” I am glad and full of gratitude to have Dr. Kamalpreet Kaur Sohi, Ravleen
Kaur, Manreet Kaur, Sachkaran Sidhu, Navreet Cheema, Ravneet Kaur, Sumira, Gurleen Kaur, Eesha Duggal, Vikas Kundu, Ramanpreet Kaur, Dr. Mehak Singh for having touched my life in the most precious way! Dr. Kamalpreet Kaur Sohi, Assistant Prof. Deptt. of Psychology, Panjabi University, Patiala has been my 24*7 support and her additional guidance led to complete my research work. Ramanpreet Kaur, has been a dear elder sister, more than a friend, whose intelligence, unconditional love and care helped me through thick and thin in my Doctoral journey. Eesha and Vikas, are heart of hearts, who lifted me up with patience and love whenever I felt saturated and who helped me in completing my work by offering me their most precious time.

There is no substitute for the comfort and unconditional love provided to me by my “Chandigarh and Delhi Sangat Group”. In the company of the most loving souls, God dwells. And when you have got a blessing to be connected to such positive souls, your life is complete! The list to name all of you here is just endless! It is with your love and positivity, I have come this far! Thank you is a loving prayer to all of you …..from all of me…..!

Last but not the least, I am very thankful to Library In-charge Ms. Santosh, Deptt. of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for always providing the best library services, comfortable and cheerful atmosphere and love to all the students. I owe my thanks to entire laboratory and office staff of Deptt. of Psychology, Panjab University and D.A.V.C, Chandigarh. Ms. Madhu, Deptt. of Psychology, D.A.V.C., Chandigarh has been accommodating and delivered her services to the best whenever needed.
