ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Every project contains an inner tale, which often remains untold. Between difficulties faced and solutions arrived at, there exists a string of situations demanding expression. In this way the mute inner voice has in it the possibility to constitute a long story. There are number of persons to whom I am grateful. All of them have contributed to the completion of this work and they deserve my sincere thanks.

First of all, I offer my humblest obeisance to the Highest of the high and the noble, Almighty Supreme Merciful Father for bestowing upon me unfailing blessings and giving me strength in every walk of this work. I bow my head in humility reverence to Him.

Words are too feeble a medium to express my sincere gratitude for my esteemed supervisor, Prof. (Mrs.) Surila Agarwala, Head, Department of Psychology, Faculty of Social Sciences, Dayalbagh Educational Institute (Deemed University), Dayalbagh, Agra, for her inspiring guidance, sympathetic encouragement and valuable cooperation throughout the work. Her sound and critical appreciation has given the work whatever clarity of expression it should have.

I am also obliged to all my teachers who gave me opportunity to discuss matters from time to time for making this endeavor a success. I am also thankful to the librarians and other library staff of Dayalbagh Educational Institute, for providing me opportunity of reviewing the related literature.

I sincerely gratitude towards all the subjects who gave their valuable time and co-operation in the study. I am also beholden to the parents and teachers of the subjects who trusted me and cooperated with me, since without their willing cooperation, it would have been impossible to collect the data and pursue the work successfully.
I am extremely beholden to my parents Mr. Rajendra Singh and Mrs. Radha Singh, my mother-in-law Mrs. Ramvati Chahar and all the members of my family, who have been the pillar of strength in my work and a constant source of inspiration, encouragement and cooperation for giving a complete shape to my research work. My thanks will remain incomplete if I will not to record the inspirations, encouragement and cooperation extended to me by my husband Mr. Satvir Singh Chahar.

Finally, I must express my gratitude to all those who cooperated with me and extended the facilities in the course of this work. I regret if I failed to mention any of the names.

Lastly, I shall be highly gratified if this work proves its usefulness.
