His insightful guidance and inspiration are the key factors that enabled me to complete this research successfully. I owe him a debt of gratitude for instilling in me a sense of confidence and constantly encouraging and helping me in this project. Without his constant and concerted guidance, this project would not have seen the light of the day. I am indebted to him in all my life.

A Project such as this could not have been completed without the support of my colleague Mr. Ponnudurai, Senior Project Manager, Openwave Computing Services (P) Ltd. and I thank him for his valuable suggestions and help. I would also like to thank my colleagues of Openwave Computing Services (P) Ltd. Dr. N. Senthil Kumar, Head - Projects & Operations, Mr. Paulraj, Senior Project Manager and Mr. S. Dr. N. Ramachandran, former professor of English, Dr. M.G.R (deemed) University, Maduravoyal, Chennai, deserves to be thanked for his help while writing this dissertation.

An acknowledgement like this will be incomplete if I do not mention the moral and physical support of my dear parents, wife, children, my in-laws, sisters & their family, brothers-in-law & their family and all other family members. This research and many other milestones in my life could not have been achieved without the harmony and best support provided by my father Mr. P.Rajamani, mother Mrs. Mangalam, wife Mrs.Ramya, daughter Ms.Deekshitha, son Master.Sarvesh. I owe a lot to all my family members mentioned above as my all PG, Research and other qualifications were achieved only after my marriage, for which they had to sacrifice a lot, be patient with my inability to spend more time with them and encouraging me to achieve the goal. I can not express my gratitude in words to my uncle Mr.Viswanathan and aunt Mrs.Jalajakshi who are second parents to me. Their mite to my career growth is mighty and but for their constant support I would not have become what I am today.

And finally and most importantly, I thank Almighty God for giving me the strength of mind and body and I dedicate this project to HIM.
