ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My sincere gratitude and humble pranams to AMMA (Mata Amrita Nandamayi Devi), for her blessings and support.

I express my sincere gratitude to Prof. Asoke Banerji, Ph.D., D.I.C., F.R.S.C., F.N.A.Sc., Head of Phytomedicine Group, Amrita School of Biotechnology, Amrita University, for suggesting the problem and constant encouragement, helpful criticism, writing papers, invaluable guidance throughout the work and permitting me to pursue this work.

My sincere thanks to Prof. Bipin G. Nair, Ph.D., The Dean, Amrita School of Biotechnology, Amrita University, for giving constant guidance, support, invaluable suggestion and also supporting to do biological evaluations.

I am extremely thankful to Assoc. Prof. Geeta Kumar Nair, Ph.D., for collaborative work on different biological assays.

I am grateful to Prof. Walter Schrenk, Ph.D., Assoc. Prof. Sudarslal S., PhD., Amrita Agilent Analytical Research Centre, Amrita University, for mass spectral data and critical analysis.

I acknowledge and thank Dr. Jyotsna Nambiar, Mrs. Jayalaxmi H., Mrs. Subhalaksmi, K., Mr. Sanu K. Saji, Mr. Damu S., for doing different biological assays and Mr. Muralidharan V and Mr. Nidhin for acquiring mass spectral data.

My sincere thanks to my friends, Mr. Chinchu Bose, Mr. Ajith Madhavan, Mr. Sreejith C.M, Mr. Sreejith S.N., Mr. Sreejith M and Mr. Radhakrishnan T., for their constant support and encouragement throughout this work.

My gratitude are due to teaching staffs, non-teaching staffs, administrative staffs and fellow research scholars of Amrita School of Biotechnology, Amrita University for their support and encouragement.

I immensely and sincerely acknowledge, Amrita School of Biotechnology, Amrita University, Kollam, Kerala, India., making avail of the resources and for financial support.

I would like to thank Prof. Ravi, Department of Botany, Government Arts College, Ooty., for taxonomical identification of Berberis tinctoria.

I am indebted to my mother, Mrs. Rani N., wife, Mrs. Sunitha C., and children, Dhakshitha P., and Advik P., for their unconditional love, sacrifice, patience and above all entrusting confidence in me during the entire tenure of my work.