ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

More often than not, realization of a dream is a collective effort. Directly and indirectly many people other than who nurtures the dream, contribute towards materializing it. I take this opportunity to express my gratitude to each of them.

First of all I express my immense indebtedness to my guide, Prof. S. Nangia for her invaluable guidance, stimulating inspiration and meticulous advice during my research work. I also thank Prof. M.K.Premi and express my gratitude to Dr.K. Sita, University of Bombay, for their worthy and valuable suggestions. I am extremely grateful to Prof. K. Chopra, Prof. G.K.Chaddha, Prof. A. Habeeb and Dr. A. Mahmood for encouraging me in their characteristically affectionate manner.

I wish to thank Prof. K. Srinivasan, and Prof. K.B. Pathak, former and present directors, International Institute for Population Sciences, (IIPS), Bombay, for the facilities made available to me. I specially wish to acknowledge the kindness, counsel and encouragement of Prof. T. Kanitkar, Head, Department of Development Studies, IIPS, Bombay. I am also grateful to Prof. S. Kulkarni for her gracious permission to use the computer terminal available to the Department of Development Studies, IIPS, Bombay.

It would be extremely befitting here to also acknowledge the timely help extended by Prof. T.K.Roy, Dr.A. Pandey and Dr.R.K.Verma at the moments of despair - when the printer developed some snag. Had it not been for their efforts, this work would have suffered further loss of time.

I benefitted greatly from the libraries of Jawaharlal Nehru University, Central Secretariat, Office of the Registrar General India, University of Delhi, all in Delhi and International Institute for Population Sciences. Bombay. I therefor wish to express my gratitude for the help extended by their staff.

I am obliged to Mr. R.T. Deshpande and Mr. Dharmar for consultation on computer programming. I am also thankful to Ms. Dhanashree for her indispensable assistance in processing the data and the text. I am grateful to Nandini and Usha too for their help. My sincere thanks are also due to Yonah and Subash for their cartographic assistance. I am sincerely grateful to Shri Tiwariji, Tanaji and Benjamin for their timely help rendered in processing the text, when it was needed most.

For her general emotional support I am much indebted to Rupinder, my friend. I wish to express my gratitude to Dr. Iqbal Singh for his useful insights. I also acknowledge the very affectionate care and selfless help extended very generously by Ramaiah, Ranu, Sanjay, Sarita and Mahendra. Constant encouragement of my friends Saumya and Sayeed merits special mention. Thanks are due to the little Pooja, too, who very lovingly provided with hot tea on that unusually cold night, when the text was being printed. I am immensely thankful to Rajeshwari, Mahabir, Milly, Purva, Chanda, Madhu, Sandhya, Geeta, Srinivas, Balbir and Mukesh and my numerous other well wishers who helped me in several ways.

Finally, I feel obliged to the residents of the study area who willingly co-operated with me and provided me with personal information. It would not have been possible to carry out this study without their co-operation.

Last, but certainly not the least, this work could not have been completed without the ardent care and zealous support of Shrawan, my husband, who has been, as always a constant source of inspiration and to whom I shall remain indebted forever.

Sanghmitra Sheel

Sanghmitra Sheel