ACKNOWLEDGMENT

First of all I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Dr. Mrinal Kumar Borah, Research Guide, Department of Folklore Research, Gauhati University, who agreed to supervise my work in spite of his busy schedule. He took immense trouble of reading and rereading my chapters very minutely besides providing books and also guiding me in locating relevant materials.

Here I would like to acknowledge the guidance derived from renowned critic Dr. Basanta Kumar Bhattacharyya, folklorists Dr. Pabin Chandra Das, Dr. Kishore Bhattacharjee, Dr. Dilip Kalita, Dr. Dinesh Baishya, Dr. Mrinal Medhi and Sahitya Academy Award winner Dr. Anil Boro, who were not only my mentors, but who encouraged me to undertake a project like this.

I also take this opportunity to recollect the inspiration that I derived from Late Anita Baruwa Sarma, former Head, Department of English, Gauhati University, who was not only my teacher, but also the first mentor who helped me in locating my materials for a literary research. I also thank all my teachers right from the primary level to the post-graduate level. I bow my head to all of them for being a sustaining source of inspiration and knowledge.

I would also like to acknowledge the support and encouragement that I have received from the family members of Debendranath Acharjee. Besides the three daughters namely Pallavi Acharya, Jahnvi Acharya Sharma and Indrani Acharya Krishnan, Mahasweta Acharya and Vasavi Acharya Bora respectively the better half and the youngest daughter of Acharjee have immensely helped me in locating his biographical information. Also, when I was puzzled with the different ways of writing the author’s first name, middle name and surname in English, the family members have permitted me to spell the name as Debendranath Acharjee.

I thank Dr. Amitava Chakraborty, Associate Professor, Department of MIL and Literary Studies, University of Delhi who encouraged me to write a paper on Folklore Studies for presentation at the 3rd International Congress of Bengal Studies held at the University of Calcutta from 19-22November 2013. I am also grateful to the Department of Bengali Language and Literature, University of Calcutta for publishing my research paper on the subject of Folklore.

I am very thankful to one of my most respected teachers, Professor Pradip Acharya, former Head of the department of English, Cotton College, Guwahati, and eminent academician and translator. Prof. Acharya has offered precious suggestions on the subject during my study which not only augmented my confidence but also showed me the right path. My thanks go to Dr. Bibhash Choudhury, Professor in the Department of English, Gauhati University for his encouragement and suggestions.

I would also like to acknowledge the blessings and words of inspiration received from renowned intellectual trio Dr. Prafulla Kotoky, Dr. Hiren Gohain and Dr. Gobinda Prasad Sama, who repose immense faith on me in different spheres of my academic career.

Special thanks go to my parents and relatives, my colleagues at Kamrup College, Chamata and all my friends who kept on reminding me to complete the project. My wife, Dr. Darshana Goswami, took all the trouble to remind me to complete my works. Very patiently she tried to prompt me to come out of my long and frequent spells of inertia. My son Tejas always refreshes and energizes me by sitting near me in his study table to inspire me.

I am indebted to the stuffs of the following libraries— Krishna Kanta Handiqui Library, Gauhati University; Nabin Bordoloi Hall, Guwahati; the National Library, Kolkata; Jawaharlal Nehru University Library, New Delhi; Dr Zakir Husain Library (Central Library), Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi; Tagore Library, University of Lucknow; P.P. Mishra Central Library, Rani Durgavati University, Jabalpur; North Eastern Hill University Library, Shillong; Central Institute of English and Foreign Languages Library, Shillong, Lakshminath Bezbaroa Central Library, Indian Institute of Technology, Guwahati etc. for their warmth and cooperation.

I hope this is not a mere ritual but an expression of my heartfelt gratitude.
