I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my supervisors Professor Nandini Mukherjee and Dr. Sarbani Roy for their encouragement and valuable guidance throughout the duration of doctoral research work.

The guidance of my supervisor, Professor Nandini Mukherjee, is one of the main factors that shaped my PhD. She defined the broad area in which I would work for my thesis. She helped me to define problems, along with the solution approach. She taught me ways to design and conduct experiments. Her constant encouragement provided me enthusiasm to perform well. Whenever any resource was required, she promptly arranged. She did not allow money to be a hindrance for my research. I am fortunate to get her support through thick and thin.

Dr. Sarbani Roy, my other supervisor, inspired me to work hard and finish within time. During early days of my research, she taught me writing technical papers. She provided me with insights of different research problems I was working on. She tirelessly helped me to sail through the journey.

I got opportunity to work with few brilliant M.Tech students who helped me to do numerous experimentations and system deployment. I extend my thanks to department’s staffs, who are quite helpful till the end. My heartfelt thanks to fellow researchers of SMCC lab and friends who supported me any way.

Moreover, I would like to acknowledge TCS for supporting my doctoral research through their research scholarship program.

I am indebted to my parents for their inspiration and patience. They encouraged me to pursue this doctoral research. They provided financial support and took all the pain due to my inability to spend time with them. This work could not have been accomplished without their support. Throughout this work, I am fortunate to get firm support from my wife, Debarati. She ensured that I could work without any hassles of day-to-day life. No words is enough for my little son, Sushrik, who is delighted to see his dad work in odd hours.

Last of all I thank to anyone who has assisted me in my thesis.
