ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At the very beginning the author would like to acknowledge his deep sense of gratitude and sincere indebtedness to Dr. K.C. Majumdar, M.Sc., Ph.D (Idaho), Reader, Department of Chemistry, University of Kalyani for his valuable guidance, helpful discussion and constant encouragement throughout the course of this investigations and providing laboratory facilities which enable him to complete the present thesis.

The author is grateful to all the teachers and non-teaching staff of the Department of Chemistry, University of Kalyani for their cooperation.

Sincere thanks are accorded to Prof. J.W. Lowm of the University of Alberta, Canada for helping him to obtain proton decoupled $^1$H-NMR spectra, Prof. D.K. Bates of the Michigan Technological University, U.S.A for the gift 2-butyne-1,4-diol, Dr. D. Mal of the Indian Institute of Technology, Kharagpur (India) for the gift of m-chloroperbenzoic acid.

The author is grateful to Dr. A.I. Khan, Dr. S.K. Chattopadhyay and Dr. N. Mondal for helping him in spectral measurements.

The author is thankful to Smt. S. Bhadra for the preparation of 6-amino-coumarin and Dr. S. Chakraborty of the Department of Ag. Chemistry and Soil Science, B.C.K.V., Kalyani for some IR spectra.

The author is also grateful to the R.S.I.C, CDRI (Lucknow), R.S.I.C., I.I.T (Madras) for elemental analysis and recording the mass spectra and I.A.C.S (Calcutta) for allowing to use the library facilities.

Kind cooperation by all the research scholars of our group specially Dr. D.P. Das, Dr. A.K. Gupta, Dr. S. Saha, Dr. P.K. Chowdhury, Sri A.K. Kundu, Sri. G.H. Jana, Sri U. Das and Sri P. Chatterjee are thankfully acknowledged.

The author is thankful to Sri D. Maity of this department, Dr. R. Jadav and Sri P. Ghosh Dastidar of I.I.C.B., Calcutta for their cooperation in spectral measurements and also to Sri Partishoh Dey for typing of the thesis.
Lastly, the author takes this opportunity to express his profound regards to his mother who has always supported and encouraged in the pursuit of science. He is also grateful to his elder brothers M.K. Ghosh, Sr. Lecturer, Lalpur College (Bangladesh) and Sri S. Ghosh and Mrs. B. Ghosh without whose sincere cooperation, and good wishes this work would not have been possible.
