ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The success of this work is due to the commitment and goodwill of many people. I thank Dr. Jalaja V., Reader, Department of Library and Information Science, University of Calicut, for her support and kindness throughout the study.

I thank Prof.(Dr.) M. Bavakkuty, Head, Department of Library and Information Science for his kind support. I also thank my teachers at the Department, the Department Librarian and the Office staff who immensely assisted me during the study.

I appreciate the assistance from Dr. Sebastian Rupert Mambilly and Dr. Manoj Edward, teachers in School of Management Studies, CUSAT for their valuable suggestions and direction. My appreciation is also extended to Smt. Usha P. for her timely help.

I am extremely thankful to the librarians of University of Kerala, University of Calicut, Cochin University of Science and Technology and Mahatma Gandhi University who granted me audience and positively responded to my questions. I also thank the research scholars who responded to my questionnaire. I appreciate the help of library professionals in the four universities.

No words are sufficient to express my deep gratitude and appreciation to my parents, whose moral support and initiation made this project possible. In a special way, I am grateful to my husband Surendran for his unconditional support throughout the process of this dissertation. Finally, I thank my friends for their encouragement and valuable suggestion.
