Acknowledgement

I have a strong believe that, one should dream. If you dream, it comes to reality. When I enrolled myself in Masters, I dreamt of doing Ph.d as I felt then, simple masters is not enough as it is done by everybody. And now, I am writing this acknowledgement to express my gratitude and gratefulness to all those have helped and are behind my success.

This dream of mine would not have come into reality if my supervisor, Prof. (Dr.) G.P. Pandey, Dean, Abanindranath Tagore School of Creative Arts and Communication Studies, Assam University Silchar would not have further streamed my dream. I am really grateful to him from the deep core of my heart that, he is my supervisor. He gave his valuable guidance, suggestions and encouragement from the very beginning to the final brushing of this study. Inspite of his busy schedule he helped me tremendously with constant endeavour to complete my research.

I also take the immense pleasure to express my heartfelt gratitude to Prof. V.P. Singh, former head, Dept. of Sociology, Assam University Silchar, who with his years of in depth research knowledge casted a glance on my research work and shaped it. It would not have been possible without him to give my study a proper shape. I also express my deep sense of special thanks to Prof. G. Ram, Dept. of Sociology, Assam University Silchar, who gave his critical suggestions for the development of the thesis.

I also express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Raghavendra Mishra, Assistant Professor, Dept. Of Mass Communication, Assam University for his far sight and important suggestions.

As I am not in a position to thank all the respondents from the different departments of Assam University by name, but their full co-operation given to me is highly appreciated.

I would also like to take the opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks to my well-wishers who became more than relatives for in Silchar and were constant source of encouragement, Mr. Shantanu Paul and his family, Mr.Ranjan Das and his family, Monti Das and her family, Ashok Bhowal and Shutu Bhowal along with their family, Nilotpal Bhattacharjee, Touhid Raja Chodhury, Rahat Aziz and Lalita Chetry.
I would in particular like to express my gratefulness to Chandana Goswami maam of Silchar District library, Neha Verma and Afsana Amin Soma, both are research scholar along with me in our dept. who helped me with their valuable suggestions from time to time. My special thanks to them.

I owe my heartfelt gratitude to my lovely roommates and friends, Jyoti Upadhyay and Charu Joshi, who in the long run has become more than my family. They have been always beside me through thick and thin whenever, I needed them and never let me fall and constantly boosted and helped me in various ways that is beyond words during my research period, which is not payable in my life time.

It would be very ungrateful on my part, if I forget to express my appreciation to Mr. Dipen Paul, who continuously helped me during my research period and burnt mid night oil with me. I would be indebted to him for the rest of my life.

I take the opportunity to express my gratitude and love to my parents, Shri Rabindra Chandra Das and Gouri Das. I would take the pleasure to dedicate my Thesis to my parents. They have always been the constant source of my strength and inspiration.

I also acknowledge my indebtedness to my brother, Rondeep Das and sister, Nupur Das for their inspiration and constant encouragement throughout my study. Without their love and affection this dream of mine would not have been possible, as they also dreamt together with me.

There are lots of people to who have helped me in this journey, I beg my pardon if I have missed their name in some way. All of you have been a source of inspiration to look forward for a new horizon.

Payel Das