I am interested in tribal and peasant studies, as I know that the tribals today enjoy a distinct cultural and demographic position in India. My long association with the Santals since childhood has also generated a natural willingness to work on them in me. However, this study on the Changing Identity of the Santals could not have been completed without the constant encouragement and guidance of my supervisor Prof. Rakhal Chandra Nath, Professor, Dept. of History, Kalyani University, Kalyani. To Prof. Nath, I owe a great deal. In fact, it was he who had aroused interest in me to look into the phenomenon of the changing identity of the Santals. I am indeed grateful to him for his constructive comments, thoughtful suggestions and constant help for improvement of my thesis all along during the study.

My special thanks to Dr. Chittabrata Palit, Professor, Department of History, Jadavpur University for his constant inspiration and guidance. It is a pleasure to acknowledge the assistance Dr. Ratna Guha, Asutosh Murmu, Nabin Besra, Kalendra Mandi, Parimal Hembrom, Sarada Prasad Kisku, Dhiren Baske and all others who had provided me valuable information on the Santal society. My thanks are due in no small measure to Dr. Somnath Roy, Dr Achintya Dutta, Dr Arabinda Samanta, and other colleagues of my own Department. I am particularly grateful to Dr. Manas Kamal Chowdhury, Director of Cultural Research Institute, Backward Classes Welfare Dept. Govt. of West Bengal, for his inputs and comments in the course of this study. It is my misfortune that I cannot show him the complete work due to his sudden demise on the verge of completion of my study.

I am also thankful to all those who have been of help in one way or the other at the various stages of this work.
