CONTENTS

Chapter

INTRODUCTION

CHAPTER I  EVOLUTION OF LAW FROM THE PRIMITIVE STATE TO MODERN SOCIETY
Development of the Indian Legal System
Jurisprudence as Expounded in Kautilyas Arthasatra
Nature of Law in the Medieval Period
Mughal Jurisprudence
Jurisprudence during the colonial period
Codification of Laws in India
The Second Law Commission

CHAPTER II  INDIAN LEGAL SYSTEM - CONSTITUTION, LAWS AND JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION
Constitution of India
Features of Indian Constitution
Philosophical Implications of Indian Constitution

CHAPTER III  SOCIETY, LAW, AND JUSTICE
Justice as Fairness

CHAPTER IV  INDIAN CONSTITUTION, HUMAN RIGHTS AND GANDHIJI
Development of the theory and Practice of Human Rights
Human Rights Movement: Early Political, Religious and Philosophical Sources.
The Contemporary Significance of Human Rights
Human Rights and Indian Philosophy
Gandhian Philosophy and Human Rights
Universal Declaration of Human Rights and Gandhian Philosophy
Principles of Human Rights in Constitution and International Human Rights Declaration
Indian Constitution and Human Rights

Page No.
1-11
12-40
41-66
67-77
78-107
CHAPTER V  PUNISHMENT IN INDIAN LEGAL SYSTEM

- Philosophy behind Punishment
- Theories of Punishment
- Retributive Theory
- Deterrent Theory
- Preventive Theory
- Reformative Theory
- Penal Code in India with Reference to Indian Philosophy
- Indian Penal Code
- Penal Lost to be changed to the Need of Time
- Law Regarding Sexuality
- New Legislation
- Analysis of death penalty with reference to constitution

CHAPTER VI  LAW RELATING WOMEN

- Women in Vedas and Upanishads
- Classics
- Buddhism
- Jainism
- The concept

CHAPTER VII  DOWRY: A SOCIAL EVIL

- Cultural and Sociological Background
- Definition of Dowry
- Historical Background
- Factors contributing to the factors of Dowry System
- Law Reform
- Dowry among Muslims
- Dowry Among Indian Christians

CHAPTER VIII  MOHAMMEDAN LAW

- Mohammedan Law in India
- Constitutional Status of Islamic Law
- Notable Features
Shah Bano Case
Constitutional Considerations of Shah Bano Case
Shah Bano and Human Rights

CONCLUSION

Criminal Justice System
Judiciary for the Disadvantaged
Women Rights
Laws are based on Different Values
Need of Holistic Reform

BIBLIOGRAPHY