ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In submitting this doctoral thesis to Swami Ramanand Teerth Marathwada University, Nanded, I convey my deepest thanks to Dr. V.T. Girdhari who introduced me to the writings of Jean Rhys. My sincerest thanks go to him for his invaluable suggestions and critical readings of my thesis. Writing this doctoral thesis has been a stimulating and rewarding creative and critical exercise, thanks to his academic commitments. He has not only supervised the thesis, but also tried to embody some of the existentialist ethics in the researcher.

I owe special thanks to Mr. M. A. Jabbar Khan, Head, Department of English, People’s College, Nanded for his scholarly insights and intelligent suggestions and to Dr. H. G. Kulkami for being generous with books.

I am grateful to all my friends and colleagues for their valuable help at every stage of this project. Research grant from the University Grants Commission made it possible for me to work on this project. I am thankful to Mr. B. B. Deshpande and Mr. Tulapurkar for that.

Thanks are due to my friends Vijaykumar Chitarwad, Vikas Chitarwad and Prashant Sunke whose help enabled the researcher to complete the work in time. I express my profound thanks to Ms. G. Manoja, Dr. Santosh Dandavate, Dr. Atmaramji Palnitkar (Dada) and Prof. Jayant Joshi (Nana) for boosting my confidence at every stage of this research activity.

The staff members of Indo-American Centre for International Studies (IACIS, Hyderabad), Central Institute of English and Foreign Languages, (CIEFL, Hyderabad), Mumbai University Library, Santacruz, The British Council Library, Mumbai and People’s College Library, Nanded do deserve my special thanks. Their sense of co-operation, occasionally mixed with smile, made the work enjoyable.

My thanks are due to Dr. (Mrs.) Radha Girdhari for always being there with lots of love and affection. I desire to express my warm gratitude and thanks to my loving sisters and parents who have been waiting with extra-ordinary patience for the completion of the thesis.

Finally, my deepest thanks to the sweet and inspiring memories of some vanished friends who will me to exist and enjoy life, when they turn their back.
