Acknowledgements

This study has been carried out under the joint supervision of Prof. B.B. Bhattacharya, Director, Institute of Economic Growth, Delhi University and Prof. S.K. Thorat, Centre for the Study of Regional Development (CSRD), Jawaharlal Nehru University.

I am highly grateful to Prof. B.B. Bhattacharya for his guidance and meticulous attention. He has been very generous in giving direction and perspective to the study and continued to take interest even after taking charge as Vice Chancellor of JNU. I have benefited a lot from the stimulating discussions I had with him and constructive comments on the work. I am indeed very thankful to Prof. S.K. Thorat for his keen interest in the work, easy accessibility for discussions and useful suggestions on numerous drafts of this thesis.

I owe my gratitude to Prof. Ravi Srivastava, CSRD and Prof. Ramesh Chand, Director, NCAP for extending help at the initial stages of the work, discussing methodological aspects and providing useful and critical comments on the preliminary findings. Prof. Ramesh Chand was kind enough to go through a few chapters despite his busy schedule and offered many valuable suggestions. I am highly appreciative of that. Discussions with Prof. G.S. Bhalla and Prof. G.K. Chadha, CSRD were very informative and beneficial in designing the objectives of the study. I am extremely grateful to them. I am also very thankful to Prof. R.K. Sharma, CSRD for his support and encouragement during the course of work.

I would like to place on record my sincere thanks to Prof. Ashok Gulati, Director, Asia Office, IFPRI for generating my interest in agricultural economics and enabling me to delve into various issues that surface Indian agriculture in a liberalized regime during his stay at IEG. I shall always be grateful to him for putting me on to research path in this subject and hope that he will be happy to see this work. Prof. B.D. Dhawan’s affection and constant encouragement was of immense help in pursuing the work. Many thanks to Prof. Kanchan Chopra, Director IEG for awarding me doctoral fellowship and extending support in many ways during the course of work.

Sincere thanks are due to my friends Dr. Pramod Kumar and Mr. Devendra Pratap at NCAER, Dr. K. Elumalai at JNU, Dr. Sabhyasachi Kar, Dr. Suresh Sharma, Dr. Brajesh Jha, Ms. Preeti Kapuria at IEG, Ms. Usha Tuteja at the Agro-economic Research Centre with whom I shared my personal joys and academic experiences. I am highly grateful to Dr. Pramod for painstakingly going through some of the chapters of the thesis. Ms.
Jaswinder, Ms. Usha Verma, Ms. Aradhya, Ms. Shashi and many other colleagues at the institute kept inquiring about progress of work at various stages and providing encouragement for which I am thankful to them.

Mr. Inder Kumar and Mr. Sridhar of the computer unit at IEG were always willing to provide computer assistance and I am grateful to them. I am thankful to the library staff at IEG and office staff at the CSRD for their cooperation and easy accessibility. I acknowledge the financial support provided by the ICSSR that enabled me to work as a full time researcher at the institute.

Last but not the least, I owe my gratitude to my family members who have always stood by me. I am highly indebted to my parents and parents-in-law for their blessings, consistent help and cooperation. I have no words to express my thanks for Sanjeev, my husband for his constant support, encouragement and patience. My sister Renu (Sonia) has always been a source of inspiration for me. Renu, thank you so much for gifting me your laptop and printer, which mean a lot to me. Sanya and Shourya made sure that they played computer games whenever I was at work, which ensured ‘good intervals’ from work. I admire Sanya’s help in several ways. I appreciate my sisters and brothers-in-law for the support and encouragement I received from them. Inspite of their disinterest in my area of study, Indu and Naresh, Sonal and TC, Ushma and Vineet kept themselves aware of the progress of work. Phone calls from my friends Neeraj, Gurmeet, Sukhdeep, Gurpreet and Sushil over the years always emboldened my spirits. Occasional visits from Nikhil, Charit, Anica, Arneya, Soumya and Shaun provided good break from work and of course a lively environment.
