ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The successful completion of my Ph. D Thesis on the Topic: Rural Resource Marketing and The Role of Transport Network in Mokokchung District, Nagaland has been made possible by the contribution of many individuals who have been a source of guidance, encouragement and motivation. I thank all the Departments and individuals for providing the necessary informations which has immensely helped me in my research.

At the outset, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my supervisor Prof. Sangyu Yaden who has been a mentor from the start to the final completion of this work. He provided the necessary advice, encouragement, guidance and has been patiently helping me in all the matters to complete the Research work.

I would like to thank Prof. M.S. Rawat, HOD, Department of Geography, Nagaland University, Lumami, all my Teachers and Staffs for providing the requirements and extending all possible assistance, support and encouragement during the course of study.

I am greatly indebted to the Department of Higher Education, Government of Nagaland for granting study leave which has enabled me to complete my research on the stipulated time.

I would also like to extend my gratitude to all the individuals especially to the farmers and traders in the market place for providing all the invaluable information in relation to my study and Departments who have provided data and maps. I would like to place in record the Nagaland GIS and Remote Sensing Centre; Planning and Co-ordination Department, Nagaland Science and Technology Council, Central University Library of Nagaland University, Gauhati University, North Eastern Hill University and the Libraries of School of Agricultural Sciences and Rural Development, Medziphema, Nagaland and Fazl Ali College Mokokchung.

I also owe my gratitude to HOD and the entire Faculty of Geography Department, Fazl Ali College, Mokokchung who has always encouraged and motivated me by providing the required materials and helping in the cartographic works.

I am thankful to my loving parents, brothers and sister, in-laws for their encouragement and constant support, especially to my Mom and Dad who have helped me in identifying many of the rural resources that are available in Mokokchung district and a special thanks to my loving wife and daughter for supporting me in all my works throughout the study period.

My sincere gratitude also goes to Ako Yanger’s and Kumnak Senti’s families for providing their electronic gadgets which has immensely helped in collection and processing of my data. I would like to make a special mention of Sis Aien and Sis-in-law Akum for assisting me and typing the manuscript. I am also thankful to Dr. Brenda for helping me in all possible ways.

And finally, I thank God the Almighty for the Grace bestowed upon me to complete the thesis successfully in sound health.
