Acknowledgements

My long and arduous student life which started with babbling A, B, C, D has reached the stage of Ph.D. I cannot make claim that the present study is my individual effort, but it has become possible because of support of lot of people who helped me in various ways in last five years.

I am grateful to my supervisor Dr. Pralay Kanungo who gave all kinds of help to me. He helped me to present my half-baked ideas in a concrete form and in a coherent fashion and sharpened my views and provided reassuring support.

I am also thankful to Prof. Kuldeep Mathur under whose able guidance I did my M.Phil and also prepared synopsis of the present study. It was based on his idea that the hypothesis of present study was formulated.

I am also thankful to Prof. C.P. Bhambhri who had after my M.A. suggested that I should work in the area of health policy. I continued to gain a lot from his sage advice and encouragement. I am thankful to Prof. S.N. Jha who gave many suggestions on policy process in India and pressure group politics.

I am also thankful to Prof. Mohan Rao and Dr. Rama V. Baru of the Centre for Social Medicine and Community Health for their suggestions.

I am thankful to the University Grants Commission for the fellowship which helped in completion of the present study.

I am also thankful to the library and staff members of the Jawaharlal Nehru University, Indian Institute of Public Administration, Teen Murti Memorial, Voluntary Health Association of India, Population Foundation of India, National Documentation Section of National Institute of Health and Family Welfare, National Medical Library and Library and Documentation Section of the Centre for Social Medicine and Community Health. Thanks are also due to Shri Chkravarti of IMA headquarters and to Satinder Kaur of Delhi Medical Association for their help.

Thanks are also due to Sundara Babu, Joseph, Udaip Kumar, Jeetendra Chaudhary, Lalboi, James, Nagendra, Anvar Sadat, Chandradee, Haresh Pandey, Sujit, Vir Narayan, Sridhar and Satyapal who helped me in various ways. I am also thankful to Rajnish and Vikram for their help in statistical analysis.

I am also thankful to Mohan, Sangharsh, Sanjay, Sunil, Vikas, Vijay and Pradeep for their constant encouragement and support.

I am thankful to Shri O.P. Singh for the wonderful typing work.

Last but not the least I am thankful to my family, my two elder brothers, Sudhanshu and Medhanshu and my both bhabhi’s Madhavi bhabhi and Garima bhabhi. I am thankful to Dr. Manoj Pandey and Vineet Pandey for their encouragement and help. The present work is dedicated to my parents without whose support, patience and encouragement the present work was not possible and to my two little nieces, Menakshi and Maitryee, who wondered that I was still going to school.
