ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The author expresses from the deepest core of heart, her grateful thanks to her previous Research Supervisor Prof. S. C. Misra, Director (Retd.), Indian Maritime University, Visakhapatnam campus, for his inspiring guidance and encouragement provided throughout the progress of the present investigation. His untiring support and unabated enthusiasm, which stems from his absolute command over the subject, has been a constant source of inspiration to work hard and the outcome is expressed in the form of this thesis.

The author expresses profound gratitude to her previous Co-Supervisor Dr. Aditya Mukherjee, Professor from Gayatri Engineering College, Visakhapatnam for his encouragement and fruitful discussions throughout the course of this work.

The author wishes to acknowledge with gratitude following Institutions for their guidance, encouragement, analysis and data:

(a) Wood Biodegradation (Marine) Centre, Visakhapatnam.
(b) Indian Institute of Chemical Technology, Hyderabad.
(c) Naval Materials Research Laboratory (NMRL), Mumbai
(d) Department of Ocean Studies & Marine Biology, Pondicherry University, Portblair
(e) Bay of Bengal Centre, Andhra University, Andhra Pradesh
(f) Naval Dockyard, Visakhapatnam
(g) Hindustan Shipyard Limited, Visakhapatnam
(h) The Great Eastern Shipping Company Ltd., Mumbai
(i) The Science & Engineering Research Board (SERB) of the Department of Science & Technology, Government of India.
The author also wishes to acknowledge with gratitude the contribution of the Academics, Faculty, Library, Maintenance, Finance, Personal and IT support staff of IMU Visakhapatnam Campus for supporting in every way and never refusing whenever need arose with their smile.

The author gratefully acknowledges the help rendered by Mr. M. V. Rao, Scientist E from Wood Biodegradation Centre, Visakhapatnam for encouraging the author during the experiments and also during manuscript preparation. The author gratefully acknowledges the help rendered by Dr. Suri Appa Rao for his contribution in information on natural products and help without any hesitation tirelessly. The author also acknowledges the help rendered by Dr. Balaji from Wood Biodegradation Centre, Visakhapatnam.

The author wishes to acknowledge with gratitude the support given by Prof. Mukesh Doble from IIT Madras. The author also wishes to thank Dr. R. Venkatesan from NIOT, Chennai and Dr. T. Subha Rao from Kalpakkam for their encouragement.

The author is personally thankful for the encouragement and support provided by Mr. U. S. Ramesh, Dr. B. V. R. Rao, Mrs. Sita Kumari, Mrs. Padmashree, Mrs. Sirisha, Dr. Ravichandran, Mr. Shravananan, Mr. Pavan Kumar, Mr. Vidyasagar, Dr. Patnaik, Mr. Ratna Kumar, Mr. Pradeep, Mr. Srinivas, Mr. Durgaprasad, Mrs. Garima Sharma and Mr. Avinash from IMU Visakhapatnam Campus.

The author takes this opportunity to thank Mr. Ramesh Kumar, Mr. Ramchandra Murty, Mr. Harikrishnan and Akbarji for being there always. She also personally thanks Mr. Ramanamurty who made her learn about financial aspects of research.
It is impossible task to mention every individuals name and his/her contribution in the author’s career at IMU, Visakhapatnam but she cannot forget Mr. Chandrashekhar, Mr. Rajshekhar and Mr. Bhaskar from Maintenance, Mr. Venu and Mr. Ganesh from IT department and Mr. Kaja and Mrs. Supriya from the Library. The author personally thanks her friend Bhavani and Jaswant to support her whenever needed.

The author wishes to acknowledge with gratitude Rear Admiral (Retd.) K. Ravikiran, Director of IMU, Visakhapatnam Campus for his kind blessings and support to complete the thesis.

The author wishes to acknowledge with gratitude Indian Maritime University, Head Quarters, Chennai which provided administrative support.

The author wishes to acknowledge with gratitude Dr. K. M. Sivakholundu, Head of Department (NA&OE), Visakhapatnam Campus and currently VC in-charge, Indian Maritime University, Chennai for supporting her in progress of her thesis.

The author sincerely thanks her family for their love and support all through her work. Without the blessings of parents and parents-in-law, it would have been very difficult goal to achieve.