

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to Prof. Sauravpran Goswami, my supervisor. His patience and dedication have made me shape the completed form of the thesis. I offer my sincere thanks to my respected teachers of Gauhati University, philosophy Department especially Prof. Begum Bilkis Banu, HOD, and Prof. Manisha Barua for their all support. Dr. Shakuntala Bora of the Department will be remembered in my whole life not only for her attempt to motivate me to start to write the thesis but also her continuous effort to gear me up for the completion of this thesis. I am thankful to Dr. Akoijam Thoibisana of the department who provided two important books and illuminated me with many important issues in connection with my thesis. I am indebted to Dr. Jahnabi Deka, Assistant Professor of the department for guiding me in every respect for the successful completion of my research work.

I am thankful to Dr. Hitesh Chandra Das, Principal, Bongaigaon College and Dr. Debadatta Barkataki, retired lecturer of Chemistry of B. Borooah College for their cooperation in granting me leave under UGC's Fellowship Improvement Program. I am also indebted to Md. Arif, Secretary, UGC NERO, for his all goodwill to extend my leave of fellowship even during the extended period of my submission.

I offer my gratitude to the librarians and staffs of K.K. Handiqui Library, Gauhati University, and Sayajirao Gaekwad Library, Banaras Hindu University. I do acknowledge the support of my colleague Mr. Upal Deb, Asst. Professor of English Department at Bongaigaon College for his gift of Arne Naess' magnum opus Ecology, Community and Lifestyle. I do also acknowledge the moral support of my colleague Dr.

Rupanjali Devi, Associate Professor of Education who gifted me the MLA Handbook. I offer my sincere thanks to Dr. Mridusmita Mahanta, Associate Professor of English Department of Sonapur College who offered counseling throughout of research work.

Besides my parents Thaneswar Sarma and Kiran Devi, my deep sense of gratefulness goes to my wife Sarmila Goswami and my little angelic daughter Marilyn for their unconditional love. I am thankful to my family members, especially elder sister Nani Devi, elder brothers Ranjit Sarma and Pankaj Sarma, nephew and niece Shasanka and Risha for they have been solidly behind me as support staff in the entire research work. I am also indebted to all my well wishers who have inspired me throughout my research work. Their names will be remembered in my whole life.

Date: 8th July, 2017

Banajit Sharma
(Banajit Sharma)