Acknowledgments

....As the journey of my life takes a new turn, I look back at the last turn and am overwhelmed with bitter-sweet memories of the days of my Ph.D. at N.C.C.S. I wish to thank the many people who have been instrumental in moulding these memories.

I am fortunate to be able to see this day with the grace of God, who has been my pillar of strength, my candle of hope and prosperity and my shield from harm.

First of all, I would like to thank Padmashree Dr. G. C. Mishra, Director, N.C.C.S., for providing me the opportunity of working in this prestigious institute.

I would like to extend my thanks to Dr. Debasish Mitra, my supervisor and teacher. He has inculcated in me the ability to never give up. I will always admire his spirit, enthusiasm, sense of responsibility and his free hand for instilling in me professional freedom to choose the kind of work I wanted to do. Throughout my stay for over 5 years, he has constantly prodded me to take bold decisions in my interest, which I have been initially varied of.

Dr. Bhaskar Saha, my mentor in Immunology, who saw to it that I finished the experiments planned in time. Thank you for being my co-guide and helping me tide over tricky situations during my experiments.

I would like to give my tribute to the mice which were sacrificed by me for my experiments and also to Dr. Ramanmurthy, Dr. Banker, Ameer, Sheikh, late Anand, Vasheli and especially to Prakash Shelke who has helped me in intra orbital bleeding or injection of mice.
I would like to thank Dr. Mrs. Sutapa Mitra, Dr. Samit Chattopadhyay, Dr. Susmita Ghosh, Dr. Nayan Bhatt, Dr. Jayati Mullick and Mrs. Ratna Shaha for their constant support, Dr. Arvind Sahu for being in the referral committee, Dr. Shouche for managing the Guesthouse accommodation and other hostel facilities in the most efficient manner and Dr. Patole for generously supplying me with the cell lines at short notices.

A major debt of thanks go to my Seniors Pinaki, Vrajesh, Jayshree, Ruchika, Aasavari, Anagh, Dinesh and my lab mates Manish, Ravi, Manoj, Renu, Zulu, Pratima, Sohrab, Neeru, Sudeep, Sanchita and Sujata. I would also like to thank Devraj, Kamini, Pavitra, Surajit, Yogendra, Sandeep, Sreenath and other members Dr Samit’s group for making lab environment cheerful. I am thankful to Ram, Meenakshi and all other members of Dr. Saha’s group and Manu, Debargh and Jay Prakash of Dr. Mishra’s group for their constant support and help.

I am thankful to Dr. I. M. Jones (University of Reading, UK) who has provided me the recombinant gp120 protein.

I am grateful to the NCCS staff including Repository, Administration, Academic Cell, Library (Nemaji and Panase madam) and Media section for their services. I would like to thank Mr. Jadhav, Solanki, Ms Rajashri, Ms. Kriti and Vishal for assistance in solving computer related difficulties.

The Instrumentation and Maintenance section deserves special thanks as they had to attend to the lab at odd hours to ensure the proper functioning of the equipments.

There are few people here who ensured that despite of all odds, a smile was never wiped off my face. Thank you Rinku didi, Aditiya, Pankaj and Renu You, will probably not realize how much you people mean to me and but this is the one chance I have to let you know what I feel - all your ways and everything about you will be very deeply and fondly remembered.
I would like to thank Ravi, Vivekanand, Dimple, Malati, Ashwini, Roopesh Vishal, Ranveer, Late Sunita, who are not my lab members but they have helped me whenever I have been in need.

I will never forget the love, care and moral support given by Ms. Sandra Fernandez, Aunty and Tania. The little children at NCCS complex - Rai, Rini, Aman, Ayush and Tishaa whose sweet and innocent talks forced me to smile.

I am lucky to have such supporting parents who have always stood by me, whether I was right or wrong. I will always pray to God that in my every birth in this world, I will be blessed with you as my Mummy and Papa. My big thanks to Neelu didi, Pinto bhaiya, Atul jijaji, Ashok jijaji, Monika bhabhi, Manish and Jaishankar bhaiya for their moral support and small kids Vanshil and Yash for their love.

I am thankful to Ashutosh who has encouraged me to do Ph.D. and always stood by me in all odds. All these sacrifices are worth it when I hear the melodious voice of my little sweet son Aru, and he always makes me smile when I was upset.

I wish to pay a tribute to all the lives which have being taken by AIDS and all those suffering and pray to God that at one day there would be a vaccine to cure this dreadful disease.
