ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The task of conducting a research study is not an easy one, and there are many people involved in it who contribute to the bulk of the material which ultimately has to be collated by the researcher.

Among these people, the person who deserves the utmost gratefulness is my esteemed guide Dr. Gayatree Goswamee, Professor and Former Head, Department of Education, Gauhati University, who not only provided in me the initial spark that lighted the concept, but has guided me all through the course of the study at every step, providing me with encouraging words more times than I can count. Her incessant inspiration, valuable suggestions, meticulous and close supervision were a source of constant encouragement for me. Her proficient guidance helped me to materialize my coveted dream into reality without which it would not have been possible to bring this endeavour to a satisfactory end.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Kaberi Saha, Professor and Head, Department of Education, Gauhati University, for her kind cooperation and valuable advice.

Furthermore, I express my pleasure in acknowledging the support of my esteemed teachers, faculty members of the Department of Education, Gauhati University, for encouraging and helping me at all stages of the research study.

I am greatly thankful to Gauhati University Institute of North East India Studies (GUINEIS) and all the faculty members and staff for helping me in this task. My special thanks go to Dr. Sirajul Islam, HOD, Education, Lanka Mahavidyalaya, who helped me in many ways, and I’ll remain ever grateful to him.

I owe my gratitude to the principals and staff of the colleges I visited for data collection. I am thankful to them for providing me necessary facilities for collecting the data. Likewise, I must thank all those respondents (Students/Parents/Teachers) for their sincere help in data collection. I would also like to convey my sincere thanks to all those researchers and authors whose works I have quoted in my thesis and which constituted a solid basis for my research work.

I sincerely would like to express my deepest sense of gratitude to the teachers, faculty members and library staff of the Department of Women Studies, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh. Furthermore, I express my sincere gratitude to the office bearers and staff members of various libraries and specially K. K. Handique Library of Gauhati University, Maulana Azad Library of Aligarh Muslim University, Library of Academic Staff College (AMU), NCERT, National Science Library, Delhi, Omeo Kumar Das Institute of Social Change and Development, Guwahati, Markaz Public Library, Hojai, and Hojai College Library.

I am thankful to the President and Secretary, Hojai College Governing Body, and other GB members of the college for giving me the opportunity to pursue my research work. I am thankful to all of my colleagues, and non-teaching staff who directly or indirectly encouraged me in this task.

Moreover, I’m indebted to Dr. Hasinus Sultan, Associate Professor, H.A.A. College, Doboka for his active help and support starting right from the apt selection of the topic for study and continuing all through the course of this research pursuit.

It would be an appropriate opportunity here to express my sincere gratitude to my beloved mother, brothers, sisters and all other family members along with my friends for their helping hands. All my words of thankfulness will remain incomplete if I do not mention the name of my elder brother Md. Nurul Haque, who has left no stone unturned to encourage and help me to bring me to this position. On this occasion, I would like to convey my sense of gratitude to him from the deepest core of my heart.

Last but not least, I do offer my deepest gratitude to Mr. Kanchan Barkakoti, who helped me in analyzing the data with the help of technology for bringing accuracy in result analysis. I am also grateful to the owner of I.T. Press, Nilbagan and its staff for their helping hand in printing out the thesis. I am beholden to my better half Mashhuda Parveen, the real inspiration and the pillar of my strength, whose understanding and inspiration persistently pushed me ahead to finish the work well in time.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank all those persons whose names may not have found mention in this brief acknowledgement, but who nonetheless have contributed in whatever small way they could to make this study a fruitful one.
