My thanks are also due to M/s Petcots Computer Copy Centre, Ernakulam, for word processing and documentation of this work.

I thank Devasstkutty Padayattil, my Father-in-law, who gave me encouragement during the course of this work. It was largely due to the interest, which he bestowed on my study that it could be completed at an early date.

Of course it is beyond the limit of words to express my gratitude to, my husband, Jackson D. Padayattil who suggested the topic for study. My constant companion for his enduring patience and encouragement that he extended during the course of this work.

Above all the prayers and well wishes of my parents and sister were always with me throughout the work. Without whose love and support I would never have completed the work.
