Preface

Achievement motivation plays an important role in academic achievement. Low performance in academic achievement is due to many factors. Some of them are correlates of achievement motivation. The study was conducted on a sample of 800 secondary school students to find out the effect and the relationship between some selected correlates of achievement motivation and achievement in social science. To identify the best predictors of achievement in social science is another objective of the study.