I owe a great deal of gratitude to many without whose support and encouragement this work would not have been possible.

I am especially grateful to my research guide Dr. K. Vijayakrishnan for his untiring support, persuasion and expert advice for the completion of this work.

My gratitude also extends to Dr. E.P. Antony, Secretary, the Kerala History Association, Ernakulam where I have done my part-time research. The staff members there also helped me a lot by providing necessary assistance without any delay.

I would like to express my deep-rooted thankfulness to Prof. (Dr.) K.S. Mathew (Head of the department of History (rtd.), Pondicherry University), Prof. (Dr.) Rajan Gurukkal (Director (rtd.), School of Social Sciences, Mahatma Gandhi University), Dr. Venugopal B. Menon (Selection Grade Lecturer in History, Cochin College, Kochi) and Dr. Alex Mathew (Selection Grade Lecturer in History, Marthoma College, Tiruvalla) for their willingness to provide expert advice.

I should not be miserly in thanking Dr. G. Madhukumar (Principal, M.G. College Thiruvananthapuram) without whose motivation, provocation and intimidation I would have not started the research so seriously and ambitiously.

The help extended by the Directors/Librarians and staff members of the following institutions deserve special mention and is seldom taken lightly.

The Tamil Nadu State Archives, Chennai, the Regional Archives, Kozhikode, the State Archives Thiruvananthapuram, the National Archives,
New Delhi, the Bombay Archives, Mumbai, the University Library, University of Kerala, Thiruvantha puram, History Department Library, University of Kerala, Kariavattom, Thiruvantha puram, British Council Library, Thiruvantha puram, University Campus Library, Thenjippalam, Kozhikode, History Department Library, Thenjippalam, Kozhikode, University Library, M.G University, Kottayam and NSS Hindu College Library, Changanacherry.

I place my gratitude before the Management, Nair Service Society for their kind concern to grant permission for carrying out my part-time research. The Principal NSS Hindu College Changanacherry is also remembered in this regard. My fellow teachers in NSS Hindu College, Changanacherry offered constant motivation for which I remain deeply indebted.

I feel very sorry and grieved in not completing my research even earlier so that my father Late. K. Bhaskaran Pillai could have fulfilled one of his much coveted dreams.

Last but never at all the least may I extend my heartfelt gratitude to the God Almighty, the Supreme, without whose blessings my work would not have seen light.
