ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

“It is only with gratitude that life becomes rich!”

Framing the oeuvre of this thesis was a challenging task. It could not have been achieved without the constant assistance and encouragement from the support-systems of my life. Hence, they deserve a special reference in this section of the thesis.

I strongly believe that whatever we achieve in life is actually planned well in advance by the almighty GOD and we are just given the responsibility of executing it. With a heart full of gratitude, I want to thank God for considering me capable of attaining this exceptionally valuable milestone in my life. After him, if anyone has to be accredited for the success of this dissertation is my guide, Prof. Karamjeet Singh. His valuable supervision, constant support and strong faith in my capabilities steered me from conception to completion of the thesis. His positivity, open-mindedness and perpetual quest to explore the horizons gave me a vision to frame the premise of this study. Working with him was an immense learning experience, which is going to inspire me for all the future endeavours that I will undertake in my life.

To add, statistical interactions with Dr. Nitin Arora, Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, Panjab University provided me with the conceptual understanding of the research methodologies used in the study. I feel gratefully indebted to him for sharing his proficiency on statistical tools and their applications on the statistical softwares. He is a storehouse of knowledge. His earnest assistance and valuable time helped me in conducting my research analysis.

The unbound support and encouragement from Dr. Madhuri Rishi, Chairperson, Department of Environment Studies, Panjab University, towards the end stages of my thesis, kept me focused and motivated to achieve my goals as per my timeline for the completion of my dissertation.

It has been a great delight to have worked in a vibrant and effervescent research ambience available at University Business School, Panjab University. For this, I would like to thank Prof. Deepak Kapur, Chairperson, University Business School and the entire staff of the University Business School including the professors, the JRF/SRF’s, the library and office staff.
The journey involved in achieving this success was full of ups and downs. During this time, my friends Dhara Khokhar, Shifa Mahajan and Shreya Sharda have acted like means of celebrations in times of joy and a strong backbone in the times of challenges. It was their presence that made these four long years of thesis writing a memorable and fun loving experience.

No words to express my indebtedness towards my husband, Mr. Abhinav Kumar for being so patient, co-operative and supportive throughout this journey. His excellent skills in MS Excel and Eviews helped me a lot in data analysis and classification. With sincere gratitude, I would also like to thank my extended family for being so encouraging in achieving a prefix termed as “Dr.” before my name in my life.

Last but not the least, my reason of existence, my parents Dr. Kuldip Kaushal and Mrs. Vandinee Kaushal, need a special mention in every success that I attain in this beautiful journey called life. I worship them as my idols as they are my biggest strengths. Completing his Ph.D at the age of 54, my father is the biggest inspiration behind this idea of attaining a Ph.D degree for me.
