ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the very outset I avail this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to everyone who supported me throughout the long span of my research project. Without their strong support and contribution it would not have been possible for me to accomplish this extensive work.

I would like to express my profound gratitude to my respected research guide, my teacher, Dr. Bapukan Choudhury, Retired Professor, Department of Anthropology, Gauhati University, whose helping hand on my head made it possible for me to execute my research work. He was always there to clear any doubt in my mind throughout the work and his proficiency in the subject matter and excellent guidance with in-depth analysis and innovative ideas always steered me in the right direction. I feel really fortunate to have Sir as my guide for this research work.

I sincerely acknowledge the Head, Prof. A.A. Ashraf and all other teachers of Department of Anthropology, Gauhati University for their support and encouragement. I place on record my sincere gratitude to Dr. Chandana Sarmah, Associate Professor, Department of Anthropology, Gauhati University for her valuable suggestions which helped me a lot in completing this work.

I will remain grateful to all the faculty members of Department of Anthropology, Gurucharan College, Silchar for their continuous encouragement and suggestions while conducting my research work during my service period in that college.

I would also like to thank all my present colleagues of Department of Anthropology, Arya Vidyapeeth College, Guwahati for their aspiring guidance, invaluably constructive criticism and friendly advice during the project work. I am sincerely grateful to them for sharing their truthful and illuminating views on a number of issues related to the project. I am really privileged to thank specially Dr. Jyotirupa Sarma for her contribution giving this thesis its final shape. I am indebted to her for her very valuable suggestions on this thesis.
With a special mention to Mr. Ratul Gogoi, SRF, Anthropological Survey of India, NERC, Shillong, I would like to thank for helping me in the statistical analysis of my data.

Library studies have a great contribution in conceptualizing the ideas in the field of research. I am grateful to the authority of Krishna Kanta Handiqui Library, Gauhati University for allowing me to access the library facilities as and when required.

Family support always provides moral courage to move ahead. I am indebted to my parents and in-laws for providing me unfailing support and continuous encouragement throughout the years of my study. I am obliged to my brothers, Kandarpa and Rituparna who helped me during field study at different villages of Lakhimpur district. I also have to acknowledge the constant help and support I have received from my husband.

Last but not the least, I offer my honest gratitude to all the respondents who gave their valuable time and cooperation during the field study of my research. This accomplishment would not have been possible without them.
