

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

As a researcher, my journey can be summarized as a very intellectual and challenging phase of my life. Intellectual because I had a plethora of learning and challenging because I faced many ups and downs in my life during this phase. Nevertheless, the completion of this thesis could not have been possible without the strong support and guidance of my mentors and family members.

First and foremost, I would like to express my sincere thanks and deep sense of gratitude to my guide and mentor, Dr. Rajnish Kumar Misra, Professor and Head of Academics, Jaypee Business School. I would like to express my gratitude to the employees of the participating banks. Without their support, it would not have been possible for me to collect the valuable data required for my research work.

I would also like to thank my friends and relatives who have directly or indirectly facilitated and helped me in this research work.

Words would not be adequate enough to express my deepest gratitude and thanks to my parents, my in-laws and my younger brother Bikash who have constantly supported me in this journey and in all phases of my life. I am eternally grateful to my dear husband Ashish and my loving son Akshat for their patience and understanding, and for lending their emotional and psychological support throughout this journey. You are the strong pillars of my life.

My biggest gratitude to the Almighty without whom, it would not have been possible for me to reach this destination. There were times when I felt very low and had almost given up. But it was only because of the strength and courage that you instilled in me, I was able to sail through the difficult times. Thank you GOD for everything.
