ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is good to have an end to journey towards, but it is the journey that matters in the end. As I conclude my PhD journey, I would like to acknowledge support of so many people that brought me to this moment. PhD was a learning experience for me in terms of educational knowledge as well as cooperation. I am obliged to a lot of people for being a part of this and my gratitude towards them is never-ending.

First and foremost, I would like to express my sincere thankfulness towards my mentor and supervisor Dr. Vibha Rani. I am privileged to experience her sustained, enthusiastic and involved interest throughout my research journey. I appreciate ma’am for her continuous guidance, support, encouragement and freedom to pursue my research. I would like to extend my thanks to Prof. Sanjeev K Sharma, former Head of the department at JIIT for his inspirational guidance, motivation, compassion and enthusiasm that helped me to unfold my quest for science. He taught me consciously and unconsciously how good research is done. I would also like to acknowledge Prof. Sanjay Gupta, Head, Department of Biotechnology and Dr. Pammi Gauba, Department Coordinator for extending their kind suggestions whenever required. I am also thankful to Prof. S. C. Saxena, Vice-chancellor, JIIT; Mr. Raju Sangal, Registrar JIIT, Prof. Krishna Gopal and Prof. D. K. Rai, former and present Academic Deans, JIIT for their constant support.

I would like to extend my special thanks to Dr. Surinder Singh, Director, NIB and Dr. Shikha Yadav, Scientist and Head of Animal facility, NIB for allowing me to work in their well-equipped and excellent animal house facility to validate my findings. Without their support, I would never be able to finalize my thesis objectives. I am also thankful to Dr. Manish Sharma, Scientist D, Peptide and Proteomics lab, DIPAS, DRDO for his guidance, support and all FACS related experiments conducted in his lab. I am also thankful to Dr. Ramesh Chandra Meena, Scientist E, Yeast Molecular Biology lab, DIPAS, DRDO for his constant motivation and guidance that made me evolve as a better researcher.

I would like to specially thank Prof. Naranjan S Dhall for his mentorship, guidance, blessings and support. His zeal of living life and enthusiasm for cardiovascular research motivates so many young researchers and he is simply a true example of excellence.
I would like to thank Dept. of Biotechnology, Government of India and Council of Scientific and Industrial Research for providing fellowships during my PhD tenure and funds for all the research related work. I would also like to thank JIIT for providing an excellent infrastructure and state-of-the-art research facility for conducting high-class research at the institute. I am also thankful to all the authors of literature I refereed for my PhD work.

I am deeply thankful to my DPMAC committee members Dr. Shalini Mani, Dept. of Biotechnology and Dr. Papia Chowdhury, Dept. of PMSE, JIIT and all other Biotechnology Department faculty for their critical analysis, guidance and support throughout my doctoral journey.

I am blessed to have wonderful colleagues and friends for life Dr. Sonali Dubey and Sharad Saxena, without whom this journey would never be so memorable. They made the long lab hours cheerful and created a happy environment to learn, grow and enjoy. I will always be thankful for their presence in lab and life. I would also like to thanks Dr. Neha Atale, Dr. Shrey Kohli and Aastha Chabra for being such good seniors to look upon for any kind of support at any time of the day. I am also thankful to Hitesh Jaiswal sir for teaching and guiding through all the in silico work of my thesis. I would also like to extend my gratitude to all the research scholars of JIIT for creating a healthy and competitive environment for research. I am also deeply thankful to our ever supporting lab staff including Narendra sir, Rajkumar sir, Priyanka mam, Kamal bhaiya and Kaushal bhaiya. I was equally fortunate to have the support of NIB lab staff including Abhishek bhaiya and Rahul bhaiya, who worked extra hours for taking care of the animals used in my study. Support of Mr. Ram Niwas in DIPAS is also worth mentioning for his help in acquiring FACS data.

I am blessed to have the most wonderful friends including Kanika, Manal, Akshay and others who are the support system for life-time and make life living worthwhile.

I have no words to express my heartiest gratitude to my parents Upasana Jain and Parveen K. Jain for their constant support, motivation and encouragement throughout the life. List will be incomplete without mentioning my younger brother Aditya Jain, who is my life-line and best well-wisher as well as a critic for all my deeds. Finally, I believe this work could not have been accomplished without the grace and blessings of god.

Last but not least, I would like to acknowledge coffee for its never ending and ever supporting role through all the walks of my life.