ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I feel immense pleasure in writing acknowledgment for my PhD. Theses as I come on last step of achieving Doctorate Degree.

World is a vast laboratory operated by the nature, for worldly experiments nature is using natural elements like earth, water, fire, air and space. In the same way scientific experiments are also possible through scientific evidences. Man is an element of universe and he has to take social, physical, financial, spiritual and moral support of society to make progress in life. Hence, I would not miss an opportunity to acknowledge everyone who has helped me to cultivate my educational career in order to achieve my Goal.

On opening of pen for passing of vote of acknowledgement, pen can not go anywhere else but to my last resort of education, the degree of Ph. D., my real Home-the heart of my worthy of reverence Prof Shri Y. K. Agrawalji. I am fortunate to be a one of the research students of Prof Y. K. Agrawal where I was given responsibility to participate in many seminars, projects and conferences of national and international level. I am thankful to My Guru Y.K. Agrawal that during this joyful journey of my career he has spent his valuable time from his busy schedule with me discussing path, techniques, strategies of research and also ambiguous and unexpected results without which completion of my Ph. D was not possible. Outside of laboratory Agrawal sir is invaluable professor and academic advisor. I really admire my Guru Y.K. Agrawal for his multidisciplinary scientific ability, command on the subject and depth of literature. Agrawal sir’s mentoring, encouragement and systematic approach was most influential influences and become the grand leader like raddar in the deep sea during my last five years of research at Nirma University.
I am also thankful to Director Institute of Science and Pharmacy, faculty members and staff members of Institute of Science and Pharmacy, Nirma university of Science and Technology for their compassionate support during the tenure of my research work.

I am grateful to express my thanks to GMDC, Ahmedabad for providing research grants, INFLIBNET, Ahmedabad for providing library facility. I also gratefully acknowledge the authorities of CDRI, Lucknow and CSMCRI, Bhavnagar for providing the spectral data of my samples and to the BARC, Mumbai, for providing ICP-MS results of my samples.

Many educators have played key rolls in developing the foundation of idea for research in to my mind among them how can I forget Dr. Gitesh shah, who opened my career door through his Remote sensing, and introduce me a true Guru Prof. Y.K. Agrawal. I am also thankful to him for his guidance, support and their genuine concern for completion of my thesis.

I am also thankful to the present and past research students of Agrawal Sir especially to Dr. Ritesh Patadia, Devarshi Thaker, Jigar Shah, Dr. Hardik Bhatt and Kuntal manna for their subjective guidelines and sharing of the knowledge with me during the years.

My acknowledgment is far from complete without the recognition those are not directly involved in academics. With honor I would disclose here the name of Sushri Jyotsnadidi who found out source of Dr. Giteshbhai as the media of this career track. I would like to thanks my Father Pinakin Pancholi, and Mother Shridevi Pancholi, Growing up with my dad provided me with necessary requirements and built up the skills and abilities to reach me to this level and carry out my best education. From a very young age my mom created perseverance in me in my work, ethics and quality to make me a stronger person from inside with morality and honesty. My special thanks goes to Anandbhai and Prarthna bhabhi who are just like my best friends and supported all the way through my good and bad times. I am also thankful to all my other family members and friends for their direct or indirect support throughout the years.

Moreover, I admire my grand parents for their blessings which has blossom my success today.

At last but not least on my completion of education, the focus of light was always on

EVERYTHING ENDS IN EDUCATION

EDUCATION ENDS IN CHARACTER,

This lesson of Guruji Shri Rushikant Vaidya, I am mentioning his name last on my acknowledgement but he is first person I will think about forever in my life because he is the pioneer who led me everywhere and in each step of my career. I am very grateful to him and feel at the Lotus feet of Pujya Rushisathyaji-realised soul-who has given master key of success and foundation brick in my career by spiritual support, creating hunger and goal in my academic career which has helped prosper my academic career and to rich zenith by achieving Ph. D Degree. He has been my Crown-Head of my career who makes it rationalized regularly.

Jigar Pancholi
