ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am grateful to my research supervisor Dr. N. Vinayakam, M.Com., Ph.D, Professor and Head, Department of Commerce, Madras University P.G. Extension Centre, Salem, who, inspite of his multifarious administrative activities and pressing engagements has provided his able guidance in the preparation of this dissertation. Sparing much of his precious time on my account he has been the prime personality in providing all possible assistance at every stage. But for his constant encouragement, unstinted support, suggestions for improvement, his genuine and sustained interest, it would have been impossible for me to proceed with this research project. He made extremely valuable comments and went through the rough draft to give it the shape in which it has presently emerged. I owe a deep debt of gratitude to him.

Gratitude and thanks, I owe in a large measure, to Dr. Shanmugasundaram, M.Com., Ph.D, Reader in Commerce, Department of Commerce, Madras University, P.G. Extension Centre, Salem.
I acknowledge with gratitude the encouragement shown to me by Dr. S. Kamal Basha, former Principal of Government Arts College, Salem.

I also record my indebtedness to Mr. Thambu Reddi, Manager, Oil and Oilseeds Association, Madras, for giving me ready access to the needed materials. I am indebted to all the oil mill owners operating in Salem District especially to Mr. P. Viswanathan B.E., VKP Oil Mills, Salem, M/s Andavar (Solvant Extraction) Oil Mills, Omalur and Salem Co-operative Marketing Society Limited, for their warm cooperation and favourable response during my field study.

Last, but not the least, I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my colleagues and friends for their abiding interest in my research work.

(R. Veeramani)