ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Everything in this universe is for a reason. The almighty has designed the tiniest particle to the mightiest ocean in their unique way. And there exists the gravitational interaction holding everything right in its own place. It is a great opportunity to be a human and a greater opportunity to be bestowed with so many friends, philosophers and guides surrounding one who makes something happen in life. So when the moment of joy is about to ring the bell we should pause, close our eyes and thank everyone involved behind our long journey of ups and downs. It is them who built our strength whenever we felt low.

This thesis may carry an academic degree to me in the smaller sense but while making it happen; I learnt some greater lessons of life which will enable me to face the world with a new spirit of wisdom that I learnt from all my teachers who make it happen; right from my kindergarten days to till now. At the outset I thank all my teachers and my guide Prof. Surjya Kumar Baruah who guided me through in this long journey.

Teachers of the Department of chemistry, Dibrugarh University, who has been guiding me since my years of Masters, have always helped me with their valuable suggestions. With this opportunity in hand I thank Prof. Aradhana Dutta, Dr. Krishna Gopal Sharma, Prof. Shamima Hussain, Prof. Pradip Kr. Gogoi, Prof. Jyotirekha G. Handique, Prof. Gitika Borah, Prof. Pankaj Das, Dr. Bolin Chetia, Dr. Rahul Kar and Dr. Diganta Sharma.
It would be a blunder if I do not mention my colleagues of Tinsukia College. It is them who encouraged me a lot in my venture. And especially I thank the Principal, Tinsukia College, Dr. Bhuban Gogoi, for officially allowing me to take leave on FIP grant. I also thank UGC, NERO and DHE, Govt. of Assam for the same. My sincere thanks goes to UGC-SAP for providing me the necessary laboratory facilities.

Dr. Jituranjan Chetia, deserves my special thanks for helping me not only with the technical part but also for helping me with his suggestions. I thank each and every member of the office staff, Dept. of Chemistry, Dibrugarh University, some retired, some transferred to other departmental offices, and others working here for helping me out this way or the other.

Dr. Utpal Das, Deputy Librarian, L.N.B. Granthagar, Dibrugarh University has helped me a lot in checking Plagiarism and I offer my sincere thanks to him.

Now comes the time of thanking the bunch of lovely people, some seniors, some friends, and some juniors who, on holding this thesis for the first time; will open up this very page and search for his or her name. And seeing it, their faces will glow. They deserve a place here. And since my PhD happened to be a long journey, so is this list………. Dhrubada, Nabajyotida, Dipongkoj, Uttamda, Devajani, Jayanta, Debojit, Manoj, Ankur, Archana, Gayatri, Tahsina, Nasifa, Eramoni, Alakesh, Priti, Mitali, Ramesh, Nibedita, Nishigandha, Upasana, Abhijit, Amlan, Manash, Sankar, Abdul, Chandan, Munmi, Gyanashree, Raj, Semim, Raqiba, Gaurav, Dhruba, Rituparna, Rupam, Rajesh, Priyam, Tasquia, Parmita, ..............
I offer my special thanks to the computational chemistry laboratory, Dept. of Chemistry and Manash for bearing with me all the time.

There was a force to be dealt with and there was a force within pulling me ahead. My parents are always my inner force bullying every negative in my path. I sincerely thank Ma and Papa, for just being there for me whenever I needed. I thank Jantu, Janu and Banu for growing up with me and for always being the source of my encouragement. Their better halves and our sweet little flowers, Kasturi, Prayasi, Simlin and Aarhi are a source of heavenly happiness in life pushing me forward.

Time has now come to mention the two fellows who suffered a lot and missed my presence most of the times and who deserve my special thanks. I am thankful to my hubby Palash and my tiny daughter Angel for giving me the space whenever I needed. And at last I would like to thank my helping hand Parvati for managing my home in my absence.

To err is human and if I missed someone deserving, I regret my mistake.

“Thank you God for blessing me with such kind and lovely people.”

Amen

Place: Dibrugarh University

Date: /12/2016

(Pallavi Gogoi)