BIBLIOGRAPHY

- Angelina Mike, (2012), SNL data of major insurance organizations, Saint Joseph’s University Academy of Risk Management and Insurance, JUN 14, 2013 http://www.propertycasualty360.com/2013/06/14/study-85-of-insurance-companies-have-no-women-in-t

Caffarella Rosemary S., Clark M. Carolyn and Ingram Peggy, (1997), Life at the glass ceiling: women in mid-level management positions, 27th Annual SCUTREA conference proceedings 1997

Journal of American Association of Women in Community and Junior College, 3-6.

Kelly McCarthy & Paula Burn, The Double Glass Ceiling: An In-Depth Investigation and Analysis Into The Challenges Faced by Women When Seeking Promotion To The Boardroom and Beyond To The Executive Suite. European journal of Women’s studies, 13, pp. 151-166.

- Linda Wirth (2001) Breaking through the glass ceiling, chapter Women at the top, ILO, Geneva, p. 38 –41

Maddox, Jaquana D. (2014), Breaking the glass ceiling: A mixed methods study of female superintendents in Georgia and the issues impacting their careers, Ph.D thesis., Capella University.

Maithani Anoop, Misra Manisha, Potnis Saaylee, Bhuwania Shringar (2012), The Effect of Gender on Perception of Glass Ceiling, Mediated by Sex Role Orientation and Attitude toward Women as Managers, a quarterly journal of responsible management, Management and Labour Studies May 2012 vol. 37 no. 2 107-123,

➢ Pratch Leslie, Jacob Witz Jordan, (2011), Gender, Motivation, And Coping In The Evaluation Of Leadership Effectiveness, Consulting Psychology Journal: Practice And Research

➤ Smarr, Debbie L (2011), Breaking the glass ceiling in Oklahoma higher education: A case study of Kate Galt Zaneis, the first woman president of a public four-year college or university in the United States, Ph.D thesis., Capella University

➢ Titiek Murniati Cecilia (2012) Career advancement of women senior academic administrators in Indonesia: supports and challenges, PhD thesis, University of Iowa

BOOK REVIEWS

WEBSITES

