ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At the outset, I would like to express my profound thanks and gratitude to my supervisor and mentor, Prof. Vaishna Narang, without whose cooperation, guidance and help, this thesis would never have been submitted. Prof. Narang has been a tremendous source of motivation and encouragement throughout the years, but more especially, over the last few months, when this work was at a critical stage.

I would also like to express my thanks and gratitude to Prof. Harish Narang for being a source of ideas and for his unflinching support towards me, both at a personal and professional level and also in my political activities.

Dr. G.J.V Prasad deserves thanks for allowing me access to the material used for the teaching of the Remedial English programme at the university, and also for giving me the opportunity to teach these classes for some time. The personal experiences gained during this period have proved to be an invaluable help in the writing of this thesis.

The staff of the erstwhile Centre of Linguistics and English, especially Rawatji, Bhagwatiji and Karamchand have been extremely cooperative and helpful on all matters - academic and official - ever since I first joined the Centre in 1997.

My most sincere thanks to all the students enrolled in the remedial English Course in JNU during the course, and to my students in particular, for patiently filling out the questionnaires and enabling me to augment and verify my data.

In the nine years that I have spent at JNU, my friends have been a source of tremendous support and help. My classmates, Tahseen, Keshari, Pramod and my helpful juniors Tulsi, Aditya, Samar have always offered valuable suggestions and also been great fun.

Chaithra deserves special thanks for her help in analysing and transcribing the data and for sending research material from London and Hyderabad for my use. I don’t know what I would have done without her.
I would also like to thank the NSUI family of JNU, especially Prem Bhai, Burton, Mathew, Roji, Aleem, Zahid, Irfan, Faiz, Aqueel, Surjeet, Sudhakar and Shabbeer.

I am especially grateful to Ashokji for not only providing me with the opportunity to serve at the Indian Youth Congress but also being lenient enough to give me time away from my responsibilities to complete this thesis.

The 255 family - Mayur, Rohit, Priti, Zinnia, Nikhil, Honey - thank you all for the fun, the cheer and the love that all of you have given to me. And Birju, thank you is just not enough to express my gratitude to you for everything, right from our 'underwear days.'

I would like to thank Shubhra and Avirup, at a personal level, and especially Shubhra for her help with this thesis.

Reji, as usual has been a critical commentator, not only for the thesis but also otherwise, and he and Melvi need to be thanked for their friendship and companionship, which has been invaluable.

A simple thanks remain too small to express my deep love and gratitude to my parents, brother and sisters, who in spite of difficulties have always extended total support to all my activities.

And thanks to Ashok Kumar Chaudhary for his help in typing and formatting this thesis.

And finally with lots of love to my Honey friend for all her love, care, and support in my life. Without you it's difficult for me to move on in life.

Any mistakes that remain in this thesis are mine alone.

CHANDAN KUMAR