Acknowledgments

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all the wonderful people who were instrumental in the completion of this thesis. I would like to express my sincere and deepest gratitude to my research guide, Prof. Sindhu Radhakrishna, for her invaluable guidance, consistent encouragement, and continuous support throughout the research work. The research embodied in this thesis was conceptualized and conducted under her guidance. The unwavering support that I received, starting from the early days of course work to the field data collection, data analysis and writing, made this research work possible. I am extremely thankful to her endless patience for meticulously going through the multiple drafts of each chapter of the thesis. Innumerable conversations that I had with her kept me motivated and pushed me to improve my work. It has been my privilege to carry out my doctoral dissertation research work under the guidance of such a wonderful person.

I would like to express my gratitude to Dr. Shailesh Nayak (the current director of NIAS), Dr. V S Ramamurthy, and Late Dr. Baldev Raj (the former directors of NIAS) for their support during my tenure at the institution. I would also like to express my thanks to Prof. Sundar Sarukkai (current academic head of NIAS PhD program), Dr. T S Gopi Rethinaraj and Dr. Shivali Tukdeo (former academic heads of NIAS PhD program) for facilitating my transition through the different stages of PhD journey at the institution.

I would take this opportunity to express my thanks to the subject experts on my Doctoral Advisory Committee. I am extremely thankful to Prof. Anindya Sinha (NIAS), Dr. Ajith Kumar (National Center for Biological Sciences) and Mr. Srinivas Vaidyanathan (Foundation for Ecological Research, Advocacy and Learning) for providing me with timely and important feedback on my work.

I am extremely thankful to the entire administrative staff at NIAS for all the help and support that they have provided me. I am particularly thankful to Mr. P. Srinivasa Aithal, Mr. A. Devraju, Mr. K. S. Ramakrishna, Mr. P. Satish Bhat, Mr. B. Lalu, Ms. J. N. Sandhya, Mr. C. Shashidharan, and Mr. Guru Prasanna for their support. I would like to express my thanks to Ms. Hamsa Kalyani, Ms. R. Vijayalakshmi, Mr. Rajesh K, and Mr. Bhaskar for helping me with reading materials and resources.
A number of people provided me with much needed help during my initial pilot studies that enabled me to explore different areas, learn new field techniques and get started with my research work. I am thankful to Dr T. R. Shankar Raman, Dr. P. Jeganathan, Dr. M Ananda Kumar and Dr. Divya Mudappa from Nature Conservation Foundation for hosting me at their field site at Valparai. I am extremely thankful to Dr. Asmita Sengupta and her field team for introducing me to primate behavioral observation. She also put me in touch with the field team of Wildlife Trust of India in Himachal Pradesh, which facilitated my visit to potential field sites and selection of my study area.

I express my sincere thanks to the Principal Chief Conservator of Forests (Wildlife), Himachal Pradesh Forest Department, Mr. J S Walia, for granting me the necessary permits to conduct my fieldwork in Solan district. I am also thankful to all the personnel from Himachal Pradesh State Forest Department who graciously granted me time to interact with them. In particular, I would like to acknowledge the support from Ms. Chandrika Sharma, Mr. Praveen Kumar, Mr. Ajay Kumar, and Mr. Roshan Kumar in this regard.

The field data collection for this research was made possible due to enormous support and cooperation that I received from the people of my field site-Solan. I am extremely thankful to all people who enthusiastically took part in the questionnaire survey and allowed me to capture as much information as possible. I greatly acknowledge the support from my field assistants - Mr. Vijay Rajput, Mr. Jagdish Chand, and Mr. Vikram Singh – who became integral part of my fieldwork.

Love and support from a number of people made my stay at field site pleasant and enabled me to focus on my work. A big thanks to Adrish Poddar for helping me in figuring out things in Solan during my initial days of field work. I deeply appreciate the support that I received from Mr. Roshan Lal and his family from Delgi village during my stay in the field. They provided me with delicious food that kept me going, became my local guardian and made sure that my stay there was fruitful.

I take this opportunity to express my deepest appreciation to the all the support, encouragement, and motivation that I have received from my friends during the course of this long PhD journey. A big thanks to Asmita, Shreejata, Priyam, Anamika, Ankit, Avinash, Ajit, Hansraj, Ashok, Bhavay, and Jyoti. It was constant support and encouragement from you all that helped me sustain in this journey.
None of this would have been possible without the incredible amount of love and support that I have received from my family members. My parents – Shri Anil Kumar Verma and Smt. Saroj Devi – always believed in me and encouraged me to do what I like. Their unconditional and unwavering support and their endless belief in me have been the foundation of my work. My elder brothers – Vijay Kumar Verma and Binod Kumar Verma – took all possible efforts to make sure that I have everything that I need. My elder sisters – Babita Verma and Rashmi Verma – always made sure that I stayed positive and focused on my work.

I express my sincere gratitude to everybody who has supported me, directly or indirectly, during this journey.
