

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Indubitably, it is the slag and sweet that determine one's success but behind every great endeavour is countless goodness of acquaintances looking back at achievements retrospectively reveals the glory of those who mattered in its attainment. I have no qualms in admitting a fact that I could hardly have rummned enough spirit and drive if I was bereft of so much of succor that I was fortunate to get with abandom.

Dr. Jai Prakash (Head, Department of Sociology, S.S.V. College, Hapur) is the guide of this work and incredibly wonderous approach to the subject, made the present work possible. From the deep of my heart I pay my thanks for his kindness, inspiration and for taking pains in getting this task accomplished. No doubt he is an emblem of dedication that given a sincere and a well meaning approach even the most tough ordeals can be negotiated effectively.

I am thankful to Dr. Rajesh Mishra (Reader, Department of Sociology, Lucknow University) for his valuable suggestions from time to time.

I am indebted to Mr. Udaypal and Mrs. Manvi whose loving friendly and helping gesture gave me a sense of pleasure during this task.

I am thankful to Anjali, Nitin, Rinki, Kavita, Sunder, Chetana, Dipak, Rakesh, Malti for these helping gesture with facilitated corporation of the voluminous work.

My parents who yearned to see in the a man, successful and sanguine did everything at their command in order to give the very best to their son. If I find even a twinkle of success, I owe it all of them. An urge take of challenges and come out triumphantly with not even an iota of vomity is a less on I have learnt from my parents.

I am thankful to my wife Sarita for letting me feel, I was not alone and that help would be forthcoming at any time, I would need.

I am specially thankful to Dr. O.P. Ozha (Vice-chancellor, C.C.S. Univ. Meerut) for his continuous encouragement to completing this work.

Lord Krishna is my spiritual guide. He taught me to do hard work and give one tolerance lower and he purifies my soul, every time I would to like visit him.

Sincere appreciation is extended to Mr. Naresh Kumar, Meerut Commercial College, Meerut for carefully typing the manuscript.

I might have acknowledged the contribution of few persons. I beg an excuse for an inadvertant non inclusion and salute them: for their help.
