

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

With deep sense of gratitude, I would like to offer my sincere and humble thanks to Dr. Hari Prasad Sarma, Professor, Department of Environmental Science, Gauhati University, presently serving as Rector, Gauhati University for his constant guidance, supervision and encouragement during the entire period of this study. I am also extremely grateful to Prof. S. Kalita, Head, Department of Environmental Science, for providing me with the potential amenities and imbuing me with the finesse necessary for completing the thesis work.

I shall always remain grateful to Prof. D.C. Goswami and Dr. Pallavi Sharma for bestowing me with the quintessential concepts and suggestions at various vital phases which contributed to the successful completion of the disquisition.

I would remain eternally indebted to Prof. K. G. Bhattacharya and Late Bichitra Narayan Das, for their tremendous support and co-operation in execution of my research work.

I would like to extend my profound gratitude to Director, GUIST, Technical Officers, SAIC, Tezpur University and Director, IASST, Guwahati for providing me with the instrumental assistance that helped in materializing the crucial findings of the study. I would also like to personally thank Dr. Madan Gopal Barthakur, Senior Scientist, Guwahati Biotech Park, Guwahati, for his valuable suggestions and support.

I am immensely grateful to INSPIRE Fellowship programme, DST, Ministry of Science and Technology, for the financial aid granted during the entire tenure of my Ph.D work.

I offer my sincere thanks to my senior Dr. Bidyut Bikash Sharma for his constant support and encouragement for this work. His contributions will be remembered with pleasure.

I would also like to offer my sincere thanks to all the non-teaching staff of Department of Environmental Science, Gauhati University, who made accomplishment of my work with great feasibility and within the stipulated time.

I take this opportunity to thank Dr. Sutapa Chakravarty, Dr. Minakshi Bora, Nitali Doley, Saherah Jahan, Gitika Devi, Dipachandra Singh, Seema Talukdar and Tikendrajit Gogoi for all their love, affection and guidance that helped me to face the challenges during the course of my study.

With profound respect, I would like to offer hearty thanks to my parents, Sri Benoy Kumar Sen and Mrs. Nibedita Sen, my sister, Bidisha Sen Nath, my brother-in-law, Bhupen Nath and my parents in laws Mr. Ratan Chandra Debnath and Mrs. Sibani Debnath for their inspiration, support and blessings without which this work would not have been possible.

I am beholden to my friends, Preeti Nath, Dipankar Nath, Jogendra Dasani, Manab Pratim Medhi and Lalit Goswami, for their acceptance, admiration, motivation and unending faith in me, that has not only ameliorated strenuous times but also has helped me evolve as a person.

It goes without saying, that I am indebted to my husband, Dr. Manabendra Debnath whose patience, support and endurance made completion of my course a reality.

Last but not the least, I offer this discourse as a tribute to my grandmother, Late Jyotsnamoyee Dutta, who emphasized on the need of higher education for expansion of cognitive domain and ignited in me the thirst for knowledge and awareness.
