ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Today, when I am going to submit my thesis work, I am not able to express my sincere feelings for those, who were life and soul to this work and helped, guided and encouraged me throughout the work period. So I am in confrontation when words find themselves unable to express what one feels in the depth of one's heart. I will certainly not spare this fortunate opportunity of conveying my feelings in all their humbleness.

The immense and generous help compounded by the expert guidance and constant encouragement extended by Dr. S. Jain, M.S., Lecturer, Department of Ophthalmology, M.L.B. Medical College, Jhansi for his valuable suggestions and guidance and keen interest in my work. His vigilant supervision, meticulous attention to details at the expense of busy socio-professional life have gone a long way towards the success of this work. His ready accessibility, even at his personal inconvenience and heartening words provided the self confidence so vital for undertaking such a project.

A feeling of sincere greatfulness overwhelms me when, I consider my revered and benevolent teacher Dr. C. M. Gupta, M.S., I.C.O.M., Head of the Department of Ophthalmology, M.L.B. Medical College, Jhansi, under his masterly guidance, fatherly attitude and lovely temperament, I had an opportunity to work. I find myself lacking when it comes to choosing adequate words to express myself.

I must express my sincere thanks to Dr. V.K. Misuriya, M.S., Lecturer, Department of Ophthalmology, M.L.B. Medical College, Jhansi for his helpful suggestions and from time to time with a brotherly attitude.

I am also highly obliged to all of my colleagues and friends whose co-operation and painstaking help are unaccountable, deserve a special words of thanks to Dr. Satish Chandra, M.S., Senior Resident particularly mentioned here.

At this moment of glory and I humbly accept that all credit occurred actually goes to my parents and specially to my wife Dr. Leela and sons Mr. Sandeep & Mr. Ravi. Their affections, sacrifices and patience have made all this worthwhile.

My heartful gratitude and thankfulness is for the patients, who were the base of this study. To all of them I have to say "without you this could not have been possible".

The entire manuscript has been typed in an exemplary manner by Mr. R.S. Vishwakarma. I am highly thankful to him for his patient and untiring efforts.

( ASHOK KUKAR )