

Apps, Patricia & Rees, Ray (2005). Gender, time use and public policy over the life cycle. Discussion paper number 500, Centre for Economic policy and Research, Australian National University.

Bianchi, Susanne M. (2006). What gives when mothers are employed? Parental time allocation in and single earner two parent families. Department of sociology and Maryland population, Research centre, Maryland population Research Centre: Maryland.

Bibliography

European Commission (1998). Gender Use of Time; Three European studies. Equal opportunities Unit; Brussels.
Bibliography

Floro, Maria Sagarario & Miles, Marjorie (2001). Time use and overlapping activities. Evidence from Australia, social policy research centre Discussion papers, University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia.

Laisney, François & Beninger, Denis (2002). Comparison between unitary and collective models of household labor supply with taxation. ZEW Discussion Papers 02-65, Center for European Economic Research.

Lundberg, Shelly (2005) Gender and household decision making. XVIII Workshop on gender and economics, University of Siena International, School of Economic research.

Bibliography

Reid Margaret, G. (1934), Economics of Household Production, New York, Willey and Sons.

