Acknowledgement

My simple letters of acknowledgment cannot begin without thanking God Almighty whose strength, power and invisible hand has made my thesis fruitful in its real sense. Acknowledgment is not nearly a strong enough word to express gratitude to all those who made this thesis fruitful. Permit me to list a few to represent many.

I am deeply indebted to my supervising teacher, Dr. G. Visakha Varma for his able guidance, encouragement and constructive comments. His supervision, support, guidance and advice throughout the research work inspired me a lot and his valuable instructions and directions helped me in the completion of this research work. With a special and profound sense, I express my sincere gratitude to my guide and teacher Dr. G. Visakha Varma for encouraging and motivating me into the research work.

Prof. Sr. Rose Ann (Retd. Head of the Department of Economics, St. Joseph’s College) is the first person in my life who helped me to realize myself and teach me the lessons of hard work, self confidence and faith in God in order to achieve great heights. And it is with her advice and care I realized myself and pursued my career as a researcher.

Professor and (Retd) Head of the Department of Economics, Dr. John Mathai Center and my beloved teacher Dr. K. R. Lakshmi Devi deserves a special thanks for offering me strength and parental care at the critical junctures of this work.

I am deeply obliged to the staff of the Research Centre at Maharajas College, Ernakulam for the timely cooperation extended. I express my sincere thanks to Dr. Martin Patrik and Dr. S. Muraleedharan Research supervisors of the centre, for their suggestions and comments in the area of my research especially in the conceptualization and formulation of models related to unpaid domestic work. I also thank Dr. Sunil Kumar S. Menon, Head of the Department of Economics and other teachers of the Department, for the help offered when needed.

I wish to acknowledge the information on the statistics provided by Dr. Sunanda, Research consultant, Government Veterinary College, Mannuthy. I express my special thanks to my colleagues and friends Dr. C.C. Babu (Head of the Department, P.M.Govt. College, Chalakudy), Dr. T.V. Salma (Head of the Department, Govt. College, Thrissur), Dr. T.D. Simon (Department of Economics, Sree Kerala Varma College, Thrissur).

Words will be quite formal when I thank Dr. N. Sreerekha (Department of English, P.M. Govt College, Chalakudy) and Pradeepkumar B. (Department of Economics, P.M. Govt College, Chalakudy) who helped me a lot with their valuable comments and corrections made in the final stage of my work.

Now I realize the fact that words are inadequate to record my gratitude to Mrs Raji Prasad G.V., (Department of Economics, N.S.S. College, Cherthala) and Mrs Julie P. Lazer (Department of Economics, St. Mary's College, Thrissur) my fellow Research Scholars who were at my right hand with active support and valuable suggestions.

Thanks are also due to the library staff of Centre for Development Studies, Thiruvananthapuram, Dr. John Mathai Centre and Maharajas College, Ernakulam for the valuable sources of information offered in completing the research.

The thesis would not be fruitful without the love, care and emotional support of my husband Mr. Ajithkumar T.V., who suffered a lot, but put up cheerfully with lots of lonely days and sullen moods of research and even caring a lot our little kids. He was there always by my side with all his love and affection in the moments of trail and anxiety. The actual sufferers of this work are my little kids Parvathy and Malavika who in fact missed my love and care a lot during the course of this thesis. But even at this tender age they showed patience and supported me a lot. The generosity and sacrifice of my family members will remain as my inspiration throughout my life. My sister Mrs. Raga Sreejith has given me moral support throughout the work of my thesis. My father Mr. M. Rajeswaran and Malathi is the strength behind all my academic endeavors and encouraged me throughout.

There are numerous friends and my dear students Swaliha K., and Aleegra Suresh my relatives especially Dr. M. Vijayalakshmy (Retd. Head of the Department of History, N.S.S. College, Manjeri) who supported and encouraged me throughout the preparation of the thesis. I will always remain grateful to all who have helped me in the materialization of this project. My acknowledgement would not be complete without expressing due regards and gratitude to the entire working women in my study for their cooperation and patience without which this study would not have been possible.

At this moment I sorrowfully remember my mother N.K., Radha lakshmy who is no more with me, to share the happiness. And I wish the soul of my mother shower enlightening thoughts on the flowing simple letters.

Ramya R.
