Every idea has its specific origin. The idea of this Ph.D. work came into being while working with Dr. B.N. Mallick as a M.Phil student in this interesting field of Neurobiology. Therefore, at the very outset, I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to Dr. B.N. Mallick whose kind supervision, keen interest and constructive criticisms led the evolution of an idea into present form and this study could see the light of the day.

I owe a debt of gratitude to Prof. Rameshwar Singh who allowed me to work in his laboratory and whose affectionate patronage and encouragements always worked as a morale booster for me.

I am extremely grateful to Prof. P.C. Kesavan, Dean, S.L.S. for providing me the Central Instruments Facility, Dr. V.C. Tyagi for the regular supply of the laboratory animals and all the C.I.F. and S.L.S. staffs for their technical and administrative help.

I cannot help myself from expressing my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. V. Mohan Kumar, AIIMS, New Delhi, for his valuable suggestions, moral encouragements and academic help.

My sincere thanks also go to Mr. Aslam Mahmood, Associate Professor, CSRD, JNU for helping me in the statistical analysis of the data.

I must acknowledge my thanks and sense of friendliness to my senior Dr. Deepak Sharma and all my colleagues specially Mr. Sri Ram, Mr. Melvi, Miss Sangeeta and Miss Shanuja whose amiable and suave help and encouragements made me work in a congenial and conducive environment in the laboratory.

I have special appreciation for the help rendered by Mr. Mahesh Thakkar who spent many a sleep deprived nights during the preparation of this thesis which led to its timely submission. I owe a debt of gratitude to Miss Seema who took a lot of pain in helping me during the execution of so many experiments. I am extremely thankful to Mr. Pravesh and Mr. Ghanshyam for their indispensable lab. assistance.

I must convey my gratitude to Mr. Promod for writing the sleep analysis programme for me.

A special word of mention is due to Mr. Saini for his excellent execution of art and photographic works.

I gratefully acknowledge the the financial assistance provided by the U.G.C. in the form of S.R.F.

Last, but not least, I am thankful to all my extra SLS friends specially, Mr. Zafar, Mr. Rana, Mr. Lal, Mr. Shakeel, Mr. Jain and Miss Renu with whom I enjoyed the social and cultural aspects of J.N.U. life, the sweet memories of which will be cherished and relished by me throughout my life.

(MD. NOOR ALAM)