CONTENTS

Abbreviations used                                             i
Acknowledgements                                              ii

Chapter I  Introduction: Reading as an Important Activity      1
Chapter II  Reading: Theories and Approaches                    48
Chapter III Reading and the EFL Learner                        78
Chapter IV  Reading as an Interactive Process                   110
Chapter V   Discourse Awareness and Reading Ability             162
Chapter VI  This Study: Method, Findings and Implications       184
            for ELT
Chapter VII Conclusions                                         216

Appendices I Questionnaire                                     220
            II Students' Response to the Questionnaire             228
            III Teaching Materials Used                            237
            IV Tests II to V                                       251
            V Tests' Data Analysis                                  257

Bibliography                                                  259