ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My travail on the topic “CONCEPT OF CONSIDERATION IN CONTRACTS: A STUDY WITH REFERENCE TO LAW OF INDEMNITY AND GUARANTEE” from the time when I first envisaged the idea of my research study till its final apotheosis in the form of my Ph.D. Thesis, has been both an arduous and a revivifying escapade for me. The writing of my Ph.D. Thesis necessitated enormous assiduity and resolute obstinacy at my end. But I must avow that I did not possess the right amount of these essential pre-requisites when I first envisioned the idea to write my thesis on the said subject. And that is where I owe and offer my deepest and most sincere indebtedness to my Supervisor, Dr. Amit Ludri, Associate Professor, Department of Law, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra, Haryana (India), who has been a phenomenal guide, unparalleled mentor, brilliant teacher, wondrous guru and a miraculous counselor in the honing of my skills and inculcating the most needed attributes in me in the writing of my thesis. During the course of my study, I was greatly enthralled by his goodself’s commitment for my thesis to check and re-check my submissions/drafts and provide the most needed feedbacks on my work to me and never relegating my timely submissions lower in his priority list despite his exhausting busy schedule(s) and tiring pre-engagements.

I must admit that my work has been some times mentally agonizing; no less than a suffering on occasions when I spent hours, sometimes even days, reading the enormous expanse of articles/research paper/books and nothing fruitful could be extracted from the same. But these tough times were made as stepping stones for me through his goodself’s numerous mind boggling sessions and deliberations undertaken with me on the topic to provide better understanding and clarity on the topic. His undeterred motivation and indefatigable interest in my work was a source of immense inspiration to me, which was crucial in keeping me focused and in high spirits.

His meticulous planning and setting up of feasible and achievable targets in terms of timely finishing of the chapters of my thesis research work were vital in the timely completion of my thesis research work. His sustained encouragement, impeccable planning/implementation skills, close guidance and supervision of my work has led to the materializing, completion and submission of my Ph.D. thesis in less than three years’ time from the date of my joining. I feel a great sense of satisfaction in extending my heartfelt thanks to my Supervisor, Dr. Amit Ludri without whom the work would never have reached the zenith of submission.

I also take the opportunity to extend my honest and sincere gratitude to Prof. (Dr.) Raj Pal Sharma, Dean, Faculty of Law, Kurukshetra University, who has never left any stone-unturned in providing me with his matchless and most needed advices. Under his goodself’s aegis also, I was bestowed with the most conducive and healthy environment for my growth in the Department

I also extend my heartfelt appreciation to Prof. (Dr.) Dalip Kumar, Chairman, Department of Law, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra, who has always facilitated and acceded to my correspondences with a sense of reception, by giving proper guidance on the matter.

I would always treasure and cherish my being a part of the invigorating, full of zest and zeal law fraternity of the Department of Law, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra and extend my cordial and heartfelt thanks to all the faculty members and staff of my department for embracing me in the department whole heartedly and for giving me every opportunity to grow and augment my faculties.

Last but not the least my utmost reverence, veneration and admiration to my parents, Mr. L V Singh and Mrs. Karuna Singh, who have been anchors of unwavering support, encouragement and enrichment to me, no matter what, and stood by me in every odd and even of my journey of completing my Ph.D. Thesis.
