ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The preparation of this work would not have been possible without the help and co-operation of many people, whom, I take this opportunity to acknowledge.

First and foremost, I offer my sincere and heartfelt gratitude to my Supervisor, Professor Desmond L. Kharmawphlang, Department of Cultural and Creative Studies, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong, whose expertise and counsel has been a source of immense help and support at every step. A friend, philosopher and guide to me, I remain indebted to him forever.

My special thanks to Professor S.K. Nanda, Head of the Department of Cultural and Creative Studies, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong, for his constructive comments and suggestions. I sincerely thank the faculty members and staff of the department for rendering all help that I needed.

This work, which was a dream project, would never have been a reality without the co-operation of the people of Dhakuakhana who provided me with all the valuable information during the interviews. I remain highly obliged to them and also to the committee members of the Phat Bihu Committee for the same.

My sincere gratitude also goes to the staff of North-Eastern Hill University Central Library, Shillong; Krishna Kanta Handiqui Library, Gauhati University; Seattle Central Library, Seattle WA; Vilnius University Library, Vilnius University, Lithuania; Indian Council for Social Sciences Research—North-Eastern Region Library, Shillong; Department of Historical and Antiquarian Studies, Panbazar, Guwahati, Assam; Department of Folklore, Gauhati University Assam; Mrs. Chandrama Borgohain and Mr. Jagadish Gogoi, of Dhakuakhana for allowing me to use their personal library; and to the others for the help and co-operation rendered to me.

I pay my respectful homage to my late father and brother, without whose love and constant moral support at every step of my growing years, would not have put me in the position in which I stand today. Their invisible presence has always been a source of mental strength and support. This work is my tribute to both.

I remain ever indebted to my mother, my kids—Nimi and Neil, and my family members for their love, inspiration, encouragement and patience. My thanks to all my friends and well-wishers and all those people, who, directly or indirectly have been sources of comfort and support.

Last, but not the least, I extend my warm gratitude to Mr. Kevin D Kharsahnoh for undertaking the task of printing and binding of the thesis.