ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This thesis is not a dusk of my peregrination rather a dawn of new intellect and beginning as during my years of thesis writing I have travelled through the vestibule of guidance, support, endurance, strength and precision building, a few to name. As I embarked on this journey I came across several milestones which were an amalgamation of both, opportunities and challenges. However, it was through the encouragement and unconditional support of some people which have made this phase of my life as a memorable experience. Thereby, I would like to acknowledge their wilful presence and precious contributions through the channels of gratitude.

I begin by thanking the Almighty for bestowing me with the academic zeal, good health and strength to achieve the academic pursuit.

In this moment of accomplishment, in the foremost place, I pay my reverence to the most pivotal and imperative person in this journey, my supervisor. In this period achievement I sincerely feel that words fall short for his guidance and support. To the bottom of my heart I as a devout expression of humility and appreciation that I beholden to my teacher, Prof. Swinder Singh, presently serving as a Professor in the Department of Public Administration, University School of Open Learning, Panjab University, Chandigarh. It was only through his precision abiding support and guidance that I have been able to transform and overcome my difficulties to success. Also, his research acumen and methodological approach coupled by his keen interest and gauge in my work has helped me in the completion of my study. Apart from his continuous supervision I sincerely admire the professionalism in his approach which has not only taught me the knowhow of research but has also widened my horizons about higher excellence. Therefore, I not only feel privileged and indebted to be under Prof. Swinder Singh’s supervision and guidance by his traits of sincerity, professional approach, humility, hard work and precision are the qualities of life that I wish to emulate in my life time.

As a sense of deep gratitude and appreciation I extend my mark of respect to the Chairperson of my department, Prof. Ramanjit K. Johal. It is her consistent support and positive response various situations, wherein, through her guidance I was able to overcome the apprehensions encountered in the discourse.
Words cannot express my acknowledgement to my mother, Mrs. Pushpa Marwah, who is not only the strength of pillar in my life but as I ascend my life’s accomplishments I realise my indebtedness to her contributions and cloister. As the beacon of my life she has made my journey enriching with her quality of sustainability towards life; even during the turbulent junctures encountered by me. The achievement received by me would not have been possible without by her unconditional vigour.

Furthermore, a life is half-lived without its life partner. I take this opportunity to express my gratefulness to my life partner Major Akshay Pareek, whose constant support and good wishes have not only supported me but always helped me to row my way through different tides. I am grateful to God for providing me a loving friend in him as it is through his motivation, care, encouragement and support that I have been able to transform a dream into reality.

Also, it is a blessing that I have been consecrated with a supportive, understanding and loving family. As through their back-up I have experienced the resilience and perseverance to achieve the successful completion of my study.

“In ordinary life we hardly realise that we have received a great deal more than what we have given, thus, it is only through the gratitude that our lives become rich.”
