ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I owe my reverence to Almighty for providing me strength and spirit needed to accomplish this work and I thank all those who gave me active support to complete this great task.

I express my sincere gratitude to my respected supervisor S.M.Z. Khurshid, Associate Professor, Department of Commerce & Business Administration, University of Allahabad, for his excellent research Guidance, valuable suggestions and constant support throughout, in accomplishing the research work and completing this thesis. I remain indebted to him for passing on his profound knowledge of the subject. His constructive suggestions and motivation at times when it was most needed were instrumental in the completion of this report. Words are inadequate to express my gratitude towards him.

I am beholden to the Prof. H.K. Singh, esteemed Faculty of Banaras Hindu University, for providing inspirational guidance in the beginning as my former supervisor. I am thankful to Prof. Ramendu Roy, Chairman DPC, who have been very enthusiastic towards my research progress & Prof Alok Srivastava, Head, Department of Commerce & Business Administration, University of Allahabad, who has created conducive research environment in the department which has facilitated this research.

I am very thankful to Prof. Sarafratz Ahmad Ansari, Dean, Department of Commerce & Business Administration, University of Allahabad, for his sage advices and encouragement all the time. I owe a debt of gratitude to Kamlesh Kumari Paliwal, Assistant Professor, for her kind cooperation and leadership role in guiding the researchers. I am grateful to all the Faculties of the department for their encouragement to accomplish this work. I am also thankful to all the Staff and Library members for their unconditional support.

I take pride in dedicating this thesis to my Parents, Mr. R. K. Jaiswal & Mrs. Balya Kiran, who provided me with much needed moral support and encouraged my efforts and my wife Shikha, whose unconditional love and patience helped me to wade through the toughest waters during the Doctoral programme.

My Brothers Vijay & Rajiv Jaiswal, Uncle R.S. Jaiswal and friend Manish Masih has been a source of constant inspiration. I owe gratitude to my family, their unquestioned faith and unstinted support in me has been the most important foundations in all my work.
This work is a culmination of good wishes, prayers and support of my colleague and friends. I owe my special word of love and gratitude towards all my friends who were extremely cooperative and department members, who backed me up in all circumstances during this endeavor.
