ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my great to express my deep and sincere gratitude to all those who helped, supported and rendered their cooperation in the accomplishment of this work. First of all I would like to thank the God, who blessed me with His grace and made it possible for me to complete this research work.

My list of acknowledgements must begin with thanking my eminent guide Dr. Priyanka Chaudhary, Associate Professor of English, Manipal University, Jaipur. She offered me valuable support, encouragement and supervision in preparing of the present research work.

I can go no further without acknowledging my indebtedness to my younger brother, who also belongs to my subject and a learned scholar, who gave timely help during the writing of thesis.

My greatest debt is to my husband Dr. Arun Kumar Joshi, who belongs to the field of medicine. He went through each draft and made corrections and understood what I was trying to say and helped me whenever I needed his support. His belief in me never wavered.

I am profoundly grateful to my father shri R.N.Sharma and my mother Lt.Smt. Manhori Devi, who is still beside me in every assignment. Moreover, my mother in law Smt. Sharda Devi, who patiently took care of the house and homely chores while I was writing my research work; and last but not the least my only loving son Vinay Joshi who is serving the nation and taught me to be disciplined in writing my work. He constantly inspired me through phone and all my family members who kept me coaxing to finish my research work soon.

I would like to thank J.J.T.U. staff for their timely help and the Sonkhiya brothers who made my material typed, their contribution is also valuable for me.
