ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My first and deepest gratitude is to the Almighty who lighted my path throughout in my journey of doctoral research and at every step of my life. I am also thankful for the kind support and help of many individuals at various stages of my Ph.D thesis, which has made my dream, become a reality.

Though hard to put into words but I would like to express my sincere feelings, sense of gratitude and indebtedness to my respected guide Dr. Pardeep Sachdeva, Professor (Retd.), Department of Public Administration, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra for his patience, motivation, and immense knowledge followed by the continuous support and direction in my Ph.D study and related research. His guidance and supervision helped me throughout my journey of research and writing of this thesis. I could not have imagined having a better advisor and mentor for my Ph.D study.

My heartful thanks are also due to Prof. Manjusha Sharma Chairperson, Department of Public Administration, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra and Prof. Ajmer Singh Malik, Prof. Rajesh Kumar and Dr. Pankaj Singh for their insightful comments and encouragement.

My sincere thanks also goes to the Coordinator and Prof. Anil Monga, Centre for Police Administration, Panjab University and Prof. and Dean, Prof. B S Ghuman, Department of Public Administration, Panjab University, Chandigarh, who supported me in my P.hD research work and had all along been very cooperative whenever I approached them for help.

I am sincerely thankful to my parents Er N K Puri, Principal, Polytechnic College, Shivalik Group of Institutions and Mrs Shobha Puri, Post Graduate in Music from Government Girls College, Sector 11, Chandigarh, my Father-in-Law, Dr S K Verma (Former Additional Professor, Department of Psychiatry, PGIMER, Chandigarh), my husband Alok Verma (Programmer and Head, Computer Department, Chandigarh Housing Board), my loving children Dhanvi and Mahir, my Sister-in-Law, Dr Amita Puri (Associate Professor, Department of Psychology, Amity University, Gurgaon) and my sister Mrs Mansi Suri, Post graduate in Psychology, B.Ed. They have always been a great source of motivation and encouragement for me throughout my research process. They strengthened me at every step whenever I lost patience and felt out of track in my journey towards my goal to carry on my Ph.D research work. They helped me spiritually throughout in writing this thesis and my life in general. Without their precious support, it would not be possible to complete this research.

My deepest thanks are also due to Prof. S K Verma, Law School, Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi for his continuous encouragement and sincere guidance in my research work.

I am also grateful to Dr Ravinder Dogra, Head, P.G Department of Public Administration, DAV College, Sector 10, Chandigarh and my colleagues for their support and guidance.

Last but not least, my compliments are also due to my friends and all the Service users (Railway passengers) and Service Providers (Railway employees) who extended their support enthusiastically in collecting data by providing necessary relevant information and thus giving me a clear direction in my research work.
